Atom Spies Questioned By Probers

Morris Told Russia Got Earth Satellite Information In '40s

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Robert Morris, counsel for a Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said today convicted atomic spy David Greenglass told him that Julius Rosenberg carried earth satellite information to the Russians in the late 1940s.

Greenglass, imprisoned in the federal penitentiary here, was a brother-in-law of Rosenberg, executed in 1953 as an atomic spy. "Greenglass told us that Rosenberg was stealing secrets about space platforms and atomic-powered airplanes," Morris said.

Also Talks To Gold
Morris interviewed Greenglass and Harry Gold, also a convicted atomic spy, in the penitentiary prior to a public hearing planned later at Philadelphia.

The 1½-hour interview with Greenglass and Gold, Morris said, also brought out that a Soviet agent had provided anti-missile secrets to the Russians.

Morris declined to identify the agent but said he would do so during the hearing when it can be made part of an official record.

Morris placed particular emphasis on what he said was a Russian demand on Gold that Gold's espionage efforts go into actual processes rather than theories. "Gold told us that the Soviet kept hammering at him to get scientific secrets from us," the Senate subcommittee counsel said.

Can Save Time
He said Gold quoted his Soviet bosses as saying: "We (Russia) can do it ourselves but we haven't the time. You, by obtaining this information, save us time."

Morris said both Greenglass and Gold cited specific instances in which information on U.S. projects were turned over to the Russians.

"The Russians did not want anything theoretical. They wanted processes in actual operation and making money."

Asked for an example of such a project, Morris replied the convicted spy told him he obtained from another Soviet agent at the Holston Ordnance Works in Kingsport, Tenn., two samples of a high explosive known as RDX.

Two Pounds Of Explosive
Gold told him, the counsel said, that he was able to obtain two pounds of the high explosive—it has twice the power of TNT—and turned it over to the Russians in the fall of 1943.

Morris also said Greenglass repeated previous testimony that Rosenberg was able to obtain a complete proximity fuse and turned it over to the Russians. This device explodes a shell within a pre-set distance of a target.

Ship Scuttled By Explosion

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—The 2,285-ton Italian freighter Anna Maria Ievoli sank alongside a Naples dock today soon after a violent explosion ripped through her mid-section.

Two Italians were known dead and two to five workers, believed trapped underwater aboard the wreck, were presumed dead. More than 35 persons were injured, half a dozen of them seriously.

A U.S. Navy spokesman said no American ships or Navy men were near the scene of the blast. He added that the Navy offered help but Italian officials said they had the situation under control.

The ship went down in 40 feet of water. Divers from the Naples fire department were sent down to investigate. The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

Marine Under Restriction For Alleged Maltreatment

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Jose D. Medina, 22, of Albuquerque, N. M., was placed under 30 days restriction today and fined $60 for cruelty to a U. S. sailor in the brig at Sasebo naval base.

Medina, one of 16 U. S. Marine guards being tried by the Navy for alleged maltreatment of prisoners, was convicted by summary court-martial of punching Apprentice Seaman George H. Frazier, 18, Lawndale, Calif.

The fine was spread over a three-month period. The sentence is subject to review. "The stocky Leatherneck was the last of six to be tried by summary courts and the fourth to be convicted. Eight men are to be tried by special courts-martial,

NO TROUBLE FOR BARRY NOW—Barry Coleman, five-month-old tot, has a contented look as he nestles on the lap of his mother, Mrs. Rose Coleman, at Children's Hospital, Oakland, Calif., before leaving for home. Air Force Scores Army Missile Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the Air Force has placed a policy paper before the Joint Chiefs of Staff "taking exception to Army proposals for a major program to develop anti-missile missiles."

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper added that "the Air Force disputes the arguments for a contramissile advanced by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff."

The story also said in part: "Studies on this weapon have figured in service budget presentations this week before the Joint Chiefs."

Strategic Grounds
The Air Force presentation—made at the same time as the Army's—disputes the Army plan on strategic grounds. It also questions whether Army development of a weapon to destroy long-range enemy ballistic missiles is advanced far enough to warrant huge expenditures.

One Army estimate was that it would cost about six billion dollars to develop a ballistic missile "killer" by 1961. The Army's advocacy of this program was prompted by reported Soviet advances in ballistic missiles.

Urge Spending
The Times printed a Washington story yesterday saying the Eisenhower administration was being urged by the Army to spend between six and seven billion dollars to produce an operational anti-missile by 1961.

Secretary of Defense McElroy, asked yesterday for comment on the story, said the story "is something I need enlightening on also."

McElroy denied that Taylor had placed the anti-missile missile program before him.

Actress, Clothier To Get Divorces

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Faye Emerson and clothier Jack Walker left by plane for Mexico together today to obtain divorces. They denied published reports of marriage plans but said they "could not predict the future."

Miss Emerson is divorcing her third husband, band leader Skitch Henderson, after seven years of marriage.

Project Slowed As Men On Job Ogle Art Model

LUTON, Eng.—(INS)—A nude model posing for students at a Luton Art School nearly caused work to stop on a new $2,800,000 college building going up nearby.

As the building grew the men on the job got a better view into the art school and their work slowed appreciably. The model finally spotted the grinning workmen and heavy drapes were drawn across the windows.

C. L. Skinner, head of the art school, explained today that drapes were drawn across the windows "not so much because the model was embarrassed but we got so many complaints from the men's foremen about work being interrupted."

Dulles Sees U. S. Forces Also Joining

Would Not Await War Declaration, Secretary Asserts

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says that forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would "almost certainly fight back" without waiting for a declaration of war if attacked in the field.

Dulles told newsmen last night such a decision would be made on the spot by field commanders.

He said the attack "almost certainly would involve American troops because the NATO forces are so intermingled."

Fire certainly would be returned, he added, "if it were something comparable to Pearl Harbor, day."

The remarks arose from a question about the "time for decision" in the event of a possible atomic attack on NATO forces.

Adlai Pledges Help
Adlai Stevenson, the two-time Democratic presidential candidate who has become a consultant to the Eisenhower administration on Atlantic Alliance problems, came to Chicago with Dulles. He told reporters he will do all he can to help in his post as consultant to the Republican administration.

However, Stevenson added that he was "certainly not" a member of President Eisenhower's team. He said he has not been asked to attend next month's big NATO meeting in Paris with Eisenhower and Dulles. "There won't be a decision on that until later," he said.

Stevenson said that he will review and discuss U. S. plans to be placed before the NATO conference.

On Payroll Long Time
Dulles said Stevenson "will be on the federal payroll a long, long time." If the former Illinois governor approves of this country's NATO proposals, Dulles said, he has expressed a willingness to work for their adoption abroad and in this country.

He said Stevenson is on the government payroll and that the pay for consultants is $50 a day "or something like that."

Dulles, in an extemporaneous speech before members of the Council on Foreign Relations last night, said the launching of Russian earth satellites would be a very good thing indeed if they lead us to realize the magnitude of our peril.

The only possible means of meeting this threat, he said, was in cooperation with other free nations—a policy which he said has been successful since 1950. There has been virtually no extension of Soviet domain since then, he said.

No Hint Seen Of Red Threat

MANILA (AP)—Indian-born U. S. Rep. Dalip Singh Saund (D-Calif.) said today he feels the Communists' threat in Southeast Asia "may be exaggerated."

"I haven't seen evidence of any immediate Communist threat—not even in Indonesia," the touring member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said.

Saund, first Asian to serve in Congress, leaves tomorrow to go to Bangkok, Rangoon, Pakistan and India.

He said American economic aid to Asian nations definitely could be improved and revised but stressed that its basic principles are correct.

Wanted To Be Woman Paper Claims Complex Motivated Killing Spree

WAUTOMA, Wis. (AP)—Edward Gein, admitted butcher-slayer of a middle-aged business woman, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity when he was arraigned today on a charge of first degree murder. He was ordered held without bond for trial in Circuit Court.

Neutrals Join West In New Arms Lineup

60-9 Vote To Boost Unit's Membership Seen Blow To Russ

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia's brushoff of Western efforts to break the disarmament deadlock may have demonstrated her new ICBM-Sputnik "position of strength." But it also put a severe strain on her friendship with many so-called neutral nations.

Delegates infer this from the lineup in the smashing 60-9 U.N. Assembly endorsement of the West's plan to increase the 12-nation Disarmament Commission to 25 members. Only the Soviet bloc voted against the proposal despite Russia's warning she would boycott the talks unless half the nations at the conference table were Communist or neutral.

Syria, Egypt Vote For
The West had been confident of victory on the vote. But few had expected Syria and Egypt, who receive economic and military aid from Moscow, to vote for the plan. Nor had they anticipated support from such Asian neutrals as Ceylon and Indonesia, who usually show a marked preference for Soviet ideas.

A number of usually pro-Soviet delegations were deeply disturbed by Russia's ever-increasing demands during the East-West negotiations last week on enlarging the commission.

Quit Sponsor List
Yugoslav Communists, who played a key role in trying to bring the two sides together, became so annoyed by the Soviet tactics that they divorced themselves from the deal and quit the sponsor's list.

India, who originated the move to enlarge the commission, did not appreciate Russia's sudden rejection of the plan after the Indians had persuaded the West to go along with the compromise.

The Soviets also angered Austria and Finland, who chided them in the Assembly for placing their names on the Red list of commission candidates without telling them in advance.

Queen's Party Ignites Gossip

LONDON (INS)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip caused some eyebrow lifting today by failing to invite most of the members of their wedding party to a tenth anniversary palace party last evening.

Even Princess Margaret, principal bridesmaid at her sister's wedding in 1947, did not go to the party until after midnight, following dinner and the theater with Billy Wallace and other friends.

A palace spokesman explained "It was a private party of contemporaries and closest friends of the Queen and Duke."

County Opens Fight Against Racketeering

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—A special grand jury session has been called for tonight as Nassau County officials stepped up their campaign to drive racketeers out of this suburban Long Island area.

"There will be no invisible government in Nassau County," said Dist. Atty. Frank A. Calotta in announcing an "all-out war" against shady characters.

The first skirmish came today when an ex-convict was brought in for questioning about his reported attendance at last Thursday's underworld meeting in upstate Apalachin.

The man picked up, John Big John Ormento, 45, of Lido Beach, was let go in the early morning hours with a warning to "get out of the county."

A big factor in the burst of official activity is the bad smell in the private garbage removal industry which was highlighted at last week's hearings in Washington before the Senate committee investigating rackets in the fields of management and labor.

Epidemic Of Flu Said On Decline Across Country

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Public Health Service said today there are several indications that the peak of the current epidemic of influenza has been reached in some parts of the country.

The federal health agency said that "a number of states" have reported fewer cases in the past two weeks than during the previous two or three weeks.

In addition, school and industrial absenteeism has dropped to normal for this time of year in some states, and others report no new outbreaks.

The estimated total of cases of influenza and influenza-like disease from 36 states for the week ending last Saturday was down to 780,000.

In previous weeks, estimates ran into the millions.

Plans Bared For Science, Peace Move

Smaller U. N. Nations Would Broaden Atoms For Peace Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—A move developed today among a group of smaller countries to establish a United Nations science-for-peace program. Acting on the premise that the psychological atmosphere is now ripe but could vanish within the next few months, the architects of the plan are consulting with other diplomats on their spectacular idea.

Their endeavor has the tacit blessing of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, who would support broadening the atoms-for-peace concept into the fields of science and technology.

The sponsors, of whom Philippines Ambassador Carlos P. Romulo is a leader, have suggested that U. N. action could take the form of setting up different scientific conferences at stated intervals.

For example, one group of scientists and diplomats might take up the subject of rockets and satellites, focusing emphasis on peaceful competition and cooperation.

Another might be charged with electronics and chemicals, and so forth.

The sponsors realize their scheme could not succeed without the full participation of both the United States and Russia.

They feel the world's two great powers will cooperate, knowing that the technology of these developments will continue, that more rockets and satellites will be made and that scientific advances will accelerate for industry.

Hoffa Opponent Loses His Job

NEW YORK (AP)—John Cunningham, leader of a rank-and-file group waging a court battle against the election of James R. Hoffa as president of the Teamsters Union, has lost his job with a milk firm.

Cunningham blamed it on his anti-Hoffa activities.

L. Levy, vice president of the milk firm, said the only reason was that Cunningham had stayed away from his job since September.

Ten physicians to treat him alone. Ten nurses to answer his buzzer.

A detachment of military policemen to protect him. A post exchange to serve only him.

Mahon Says Helps Delay U. S. Missile

Opposition Should Be Soviet, Texan States; Believes U. S. Trailing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.), who contends the United States is "seriously behind" Russia in long-range missiles development, said today interservice rivalry is partly responsible.

"One of our stumbling blocks is and has been interservice rivalry," Mahon said in an interview as his House Appropriations subcommittee moved deeper into an inquiry on the status of the U.S. missiles program.

"There should be cooperation and the 'opposition' should be the Soviet Union," he added.

Related Program
A related program—development of nuclear power to propel planes and missiles—was put under one-office direction.

The Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission announced the creation of an integrated project office to handle the nuclear power work.

The special nuclear power project is not an immediate concern in the congressional study.

Secretary of Defense McElroy, leading off the testimony yesterday told newsmen afterward the U.S. missiles program is in "good shape." He mentioned in this connection three intermediate range weapons—the Air Force's Thor, the Army's Jupiter and the Navy's Polaris.

Lag Behind Russia
However, Mahon disagreed sharply, saying "we have lagged behind the Russians in the intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) and we've got to come from behind and come abreast as soon as we can."

Agreeing with Mahon, Rep. Sykes (D-Fla.) said he "would like to see some specific things that are being done to bring us abreast of the Russians."

However, a third member of the subcommittee, Rep. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.), said: "Nobody knows that the Russians have. Most of these expressions of opinion are based on guesswork."

Mahon's statement that the United States is seriously behind the Soviet Union in developing an IRBM was challenged by William M. Holaday, the Defense Department's missiles boss. "I don't believe so," Holaday said after emerging from the hearing.

Holaday conceded that "based on what they (the Russians) said, maybe we are behind them" in developing an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

Intermediate range missiles are designed to reach targets up to 1,500 miles away. An intercontinental missile would travel 5,000 miles.

Wirin Given Travel Permit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Los Angeles attorney says he is the first American to have a passport validated for travel to Communist China and North Korea.

A. L. Wirin's passport was signed yesterday by W. G. Nerren, acting director of the U. S. Passport Office in Los Angeles, after a federal judge in San Francisco ruled that Wirin had a right to gather evidence and interview witnesses behind the Bamboo Curtain.

The State Department at first had refused to permit Wirin to visit Red China and North Korea. But Judge Louis E. Goodman of San Francisco ruled last Oct. 30 that unless Wirin was allowed to go he would dismiss sedition charges against Wirin's clients, John and Sylvia Powell.

The Powells are charged with printing seditious articles in an English language newspaper they published in Shanghai.

But that was yesterday. Today Martin shipped to Ft. Devens Hospital.

Martin, a resident of West Roxbury, was the last patient at Murphy Army General Hospital. All the other patients had been transferred before him in advance of the hospital's closing on Dec. 31.

Martin broke his leg while on duty in Germany. He was transferred to the United States for treatment.

Criticism Of Adlai Draws Demo Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators Smathers (D-Fla.) and Gore (D-Tenn.) said today criticism from within the Eisenhower administration is not going to deflect Adlai E. Stevenson from advising Secretary of State Dulles on NATO policies.

The two Democratic senators said they regretted what they called a disparaging statement about Stevenson's abilities by Sherman Adams, President Eisenhower's chief assistant.

Adams said in Chicago Monday that the American people want bipartisanship in international affairs and were getting it by Stevenson's inclusion in an advisory role in the efforts to work out a program for the North Atlantic Treaty Council meeting in Paris next month.

Obvious Reference
With obvious reference to Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic presidential nominee, Adams added: "I'm not saying anything about the talents of the people he's invited to consult with us."

Smathers, who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, said he regards this as "a typical nit-picking statement from Adams."

"It will be ignored by Stevenson and other Democrats who believe in patriotic bipartisanship on international problems," Smathers said.

Unfortunate Statement
Gore said in a separate interview he thinks Adams made "an unfortunate and entirely gratuitous statement."

"Stevenson is too big a man to be affected by this sort of thing," he said.

Stevenson himself, asked in Chicago to comment on Adams' statement, said, "I will leave po-

Auction Will Sell Victoria Underclothes

LONDON—(INS)—A pair of the late Queen Victoria's drawers and one of her monogrammed shifts are among the items to be offered at a charity auction Monday.

The thought of putting up for auction the underclothes of a woman whose name became synonymous with propriety is embarrassing even some of the theater stars who are sponsoring the charity show.

Other entertainers felt, however, that one couldn't put the queen's pantaloons to a better use than to help raise money to provide a seaside home for spastic children.

Political comments to Republicans.

Sen. Clifford Case (R-N.J.) said he believes Stevenson will make "useful and constructive suggestions" in conferences with Dulles.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) told an audience in Teaneck, N. J., last night he feels strongly "that in this critical hour of history we must achieve a revitalization of bipartisanship."

Fuel Shortages Facing Red Bloc

VIENNA (AP)—Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria face a serious fuel shortage this winter, Communist press and radio reports indicate.

The widespread lack of coal and fuel oil in Eastern Europe, with the possible exception of oil-rich Romania, is due in part to the inability of the Communist-run economies to fulfill current five-year plans, and also to Poland's sharp reduction of coal deliveries.

field, in central Wisconsin. Mrs. Hogan, a tavern operator at Bancroft, Wis., had been missing since Dec. 8, 1954. Earlier Gein had admitted killing and butchering Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58-year-old hardware store owner of Plainfield last Saturday.

Gein was returned to the Wau-sara County jail at Wautoma yesterday from Madison to await arraignment on a charge of first-degree murder.

As he left the laboratory, clean shaven and smiling, funeral services were held at Plainfield for Mrs. Worden.

Her mutilated body was discovered on Gein's farm near Plainfield Saturday night. Authorities searching the littered farmhouse found a collection of human skulls which are being scrutinized by the laboratory. Gein declared he obtained the skulls in a series of grave robberies from 1944 to 1952.

Portage County Sheriff Herbert Wanserski has expressed doubt that Gein, who weighs about 140 pounds, was physically able to commit grave robberies.

Woman Found Dead In Tub; Autopsy Set

NEW YORK (AP)—A socially prominent woman was found dead last night in a partially filled bathtub in her mother's Essex House apartment on Central Park South.

The body of Mrs. Emile Graf-fin, 44, was discovered by her maid and the manager of the Essex House. The maid had become worried when she was unable to contact Mrs. Graf-fin by phone.

Beside the tub where the body was found, police said, was a box containing pills. An autopsy was scheduled for today.

The dead woman resided with her husband George at 200 E. 66th St. He told police his wife had been in ill health and worried over the health of her mother Mrs. George Leuman, who is ill in Roosevelt Hospital.

Mrs. Graf-fin was a former U.S. table tennis singles champion and a member of the New York Junior League.

Allies Can Use Atomic Arms Without Changes In Law, Gore Believes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said today he believes European readiness to use American nuclear weapons in wartime can be achieved without amending the Atomic Energy Act.

"I generally favor increased cooperation with our allies in this field and if an amendment to the law is regarded as necessary by the administration, I would give it serious and sympathetic consideration," Gore said in an interview.

"But as of now I know of no such need and none has been indicated to the Senate-House committee."

President Eisenhower has said he will ask Congress to lift some of the secrecy provisions of the Atomic Energy Act.

The proposal has drawn a mixed, and none too favorable, reaction from Senate-House Atomic Energy committees.

GOP Committee To Decide Two Open Positions

The Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County will meet next week to make recommendations for two positions, according to James S. Getty, chairman.

The positions are for member of the committee and for substitute trial magistrate.

Both posts were held by Delegate David J. Williams, 49, of Midland, who was sworn in at a ceremony in Baltimore on Veterans Day.

Nine Area Scouts To Try For Top Scouting Honors

Nine area Explorer Scouts will go before a Board of Review here Monday night to qualify for the Eagle rank, Scouting's highest honor.

It will be the highest number of Scouts to seek Eagle rank at one time in the history of Potomac Council.

The Board of Review will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Council's office in the Union Street County Building, according to Okey E. Michael, Council advancement chairman.

Appearing before the board will be Danny and Kenneth Moreland, Ronald Gilchrist, Elmer Beachley and Arthur Williamson, of Explorer Post 10, sponsored by LaVale Methodist Church.

Charles Meese, Troop 25, sponsored by Barton 100F; David Gonder, Troop 31, Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, and Gary Hedrick and Marshall DeMedici, of Troop 63, Petersburg Kiwanis Club.

Invited to sit on the Board of Review are George Hanst and Robert Stanton, Oakland; Dr. Paul Giffin, Keyser; James Newlin and Ernest Crowell, Tri-Towns; Lester Shaffer and C. H. Parks, Petersburg; James Jones and John Bond, Frostburg, and J. L. Towler, Cumberland, and Michael.

Prior to the Board of Review, local members of the board will have checked references of the candidates with school and church officials, Scoutmasters and neighbors.

All of the Explorers have completed other requirements for Eagle rank, an award won by about one of every 400 Scouts.

To be eligible for the Eagle Board of Review, a Scout must win 21 merit badges and must have exhibited leadership and participation in community affairs.

Kettle Drive To Open Here November 29

The Salvation Army will begin its annual Kettle Drive on Friday, November 29.

Plans for the Kettle Drive will be in charge of Robert G. Garner, general chairman for the Salvation Army's Christmas activities, with Frank Carpenter, T. J. Klauenberg and Carl Am-tower as co-chairmen.

The Mayor and Council Monday granted permission for holding the kettle collections here beginning the day after Thanksgiving and continuing through Christmas Eve.

In his request for permission, Garner said the traditional kettle collection will assist in financing the Salvation Army's program for the less fortunate people of the area.

Cumberland service clubs will man the kettles on December 14 and 21 and area clubs will hold their kettle collections on December 21.

Salvation Army personnel will be in charge of the kettles at other times.

Cash Receipts For Farmers Holding Steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cash receipts for Maryland farmers are reported to be running about the same as last year in contrast to a 3 per cent drop for the South Atlantic region.

The report showed a national decrease for the nine months of less than 1 per cent.

States in the South Atlantic region with reported gains were Delaware, Virginia, and North Carolina.

Cash receipts for the nation may rise a little next year, the department said.

The department reported livestock receipts climbed from $120,180,550,000 to $180,546,000 in receipts dropped from $59,563,000 to $58,811,000.

The over-all decrease was due entirely to smaller crop receipts this year, since livestock receipts showed an increase.

The department reported live stock receipts climbed from $120,180,550,000 to $180,546,000 in receipts dropped from $59,563,000 to $58,811,000.

Maryland cash receipts from livestock during September, the latest month for which the department has figures, were $13,554,000 compared to $13,291,000 during September last year.

Crop receipts decreased from $3,474,600 September last year to $4,600,000 during September this year.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Looking Ahead

IF REPORTS FROM Europe are accurate, a number of NATO nations will have more on their mind at the December Paris meeting than fine new expressions of solidarity against the Soviet threat. These countries want to have placed at their disposal an adequate complement of tactical nuclear weapons. At present nuclear devices in the free world are a monopoly of the United States and Britain. America has been held back from such sharing by the same kind of reasoning that has kept it from pooling its scientific knowledge with other nations. There has been a nagging fear, mostly voiced in Congress, that somehow these things would find their way to our Communist adversaries.

POSSIBLY THERE has been some notion, too, that some NATO member would employ nuclear weapons in a localized action and thereby run the risk of touching off World War III. These reasons seem less compelling today. For one thing, our own military authorities make it clear we ourselves would use nuclear weapons in any new "small war" we might get into. These officials doubt that such tactical use would precipitate a general conflict. For another, while we are believed to have a marked superiority over Russia in the quantity and quality of tactical nuclear weapons and would not like to see some of these types fall into Soviet hands, this is a risk that in wisdom we should perhaps take.

THESE NATO lands encompass most of our forward air bases. We need them as stages for our intermediate B-47 jet bombers. But they have grown increasingly vulnerable to Soviet attack. Both Russian bombers and Russian intermediate ballistic missiles now put the bases in danger. If these bases are to be defended against such menace, they must have the means. The air-base countries believe, with some good reason, that nuclear weapons are the only effective means. The Russians constantly labor to neutralize or eliminate our forward bases. As President Eisenhower himself indicated in his too recent security speech, we too regard them as vital. If both sides measure them as of such importance, then those bases and the countries which harbor them deserve to be defended with the surest weapons in the free world's arsenal.

MEN LAUNCHING moons in outer space amaze us. We find it difficult to make our way to the fifth floor of an office building in a self-service elevator.

A Unique Report

ONE OF THE RECENT interesting by-products of the 1956 sinking of the Italian liner Andrea Doria was a psychiatrists' report on the behavior and attitudes of the survivors who clambered aboard the rescue ship. He de France. Seldom in history have two trained psychiatrists been at the scene of a major disaster to observe its effects on human beings firsthand. They noted many things. Criticisms of the Italian crew they determined were unjustified, based largely on long-held prejudices of some survivors. They found that people in the shock of disaster behave almost like a herd, obeying anyone who will command them what to do. Some so thoroughly lost their identities that for a time they could not recall their own names. Possibly most important of all, they concluded that the old rule of "women and children first" into rescue craft can work out very badly for some children. Watching the procession of numbed, bedraggled survivors, they decided that no child should ever be put off a sinking vessel without one of its parents. If only a father was present, then they felt he should go with the child. The alternative, they said, could be serious psychological damage to any child pushed off on his own in the midst of tragedy.

Adlai Can Be Helpful In Several Ways

WASHINGTON.—How much of an assist Adlai Stevenson can be, if he and the Eisenhower Administration can find common ground, in helping with the nation's critical foreign and military problems was manifest in the stir that attended his visit here to begin his consultative job with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Public interest in the man who twice ran for President and who, in two campaigns, won a large and devoted following — if not enough to gain the White House — we saw in one sure sign.

STEVENS' participation in the venture means a greater public interest in it. As wide an interest as possible among our people is imperative.

This is because the chief task before President Eisenhower at the forthcoming NATO meeting in Paris next month is to arrange for the pooling of our resources with our Western European allies. This is essential for the necessary unification and concentration to meet the Russian competition in space development.

In the end the success of the cooperative endeavor depends much upon Congress' willingness to approve changes in existing law to permit us to release scientific information and material to our allies. There is considerable resistance to such a move in Congress now. To break that down, public pressure is needed. Stevenson can be helpful in arousing public pressure, as well as being directly influential among Democrats in Congress.

Implications For U. S. In Soviet 'Thrust'

WASHINGTON.—(NEA)—Behind the scenery there is considerable dispute here over whether President Eisenhower has told the whole story in his first two speeches on science and security.

No one in the executive branch of government ever challenges the word of the President openly. But off the record, minority groups of science and military experts maintain that the United States has not yet been told as much as it should be.

Part of this scare stuff is simply beginning agitation for larger scientific and military procurement appropriations and bigger defense contracts for missile manufacturers. But their contentions are also based on sound interpretations of the military implications of Russia's launching two intercontinental ballistic missiles and two Sputniks.

enson can be helpful in arousing public pressure, as well as being directly influential among Democrats in Congress.

As a pure enterprise in publicity, then, the Stevenson enlistment by the Administration is of value.

BUT HE CAN be useful and helpful in another most important need. This is in rebuilding the free world alliance, so shaky — to put it mildly — since the Suez crisis a year ago. Now we find France resentful about the British-U.S. sale of arms to Tunisia.

Stevenson has great prestige in Western Europe. He is popular there among the people and respected by the leaders, some of whom he has known for a long time.

Of the admiration and affection for him in Britain, we had a symbol in both the 1952 and 1956 elections in the comment, wryly spoken among Democrats, that it was too bad the people of England could not vote in our elections.

The cooperation of the titular head of the Democratic party also makes available his fine talents in diplomacy, developed in long experience during World War II and afterward.

Among our problems is the very manifest lack of good will toward Stevenson Dulles in Western Europe which, in some areas and with some political leaders, extends to a lack of confidence.

Whether the personal prestige of President Eisenhower, supplemented by that of Stevenson, may help to minimize its importance, we must wait and see. It might turn out that the only solution — which the President would come in very reluctantly — is to replace Dulles.

This, however, would not be until after the Paris meeting in December. Most prominently mentioned for the post is former Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

RECRUITING of Stevenson was a Dulles project. He had considerable difficulty. It is learned, in getting President Eisenhower's consent. This we saw in the long delay before the President finally sent a letter to his defeated opponent to thank him and to express confidence that Stevenson could be helpful and to invite him to a conference.

The President's reluctance also was obvious in the difficulty in working out terms for Stevenson's cooperation in which, though still vague, he would offer counsel and advice. He will reserve the right to oppose issues, if any, with which he differs on policy for the NATO meeting, and it is presumed, to express his disapproval publicly.

STEVENS' also can be helpful to get back again to fundamentals that are now completely obscured by the concentration on rockets, missiles, and satellites. One of the fundamentals is an ultimate settlement for peace in the world, in which disarmament is a pre-requisite.

On that, both President Eisenhower and Stevenson are agreed. That can never be achieved if we merely accept the opening up of outer space to scientific development as the occasion and locale of another armaments race similar to that in which we have engaged for the last decade on military use of atomic energy.

What the world needs is competition to find the best methods of getting peace.

and southern Russia to England, Spain and North Africa.

The only deterrent which the United States has to such attacks is its strategic air force. But to be effective a minimum of ten per cent of these bombers would have to be kept airborne or on the line, ready for instant take-off at all times.

This is an expensive operation to maintain and not as simple as the President's speeches have indicated.

It has been found that the United States does not have the capacity—either in fuel or in bomber crews—to maintain this state of readiness around the clock for the next few years. It will take the U. S. that long to catch up with the Russians.

THERE MAY be one escape from this situation. The Russian missiles may not be very accurate. This is more in the nature of a hope and a theory than it is a sound conclusion based on accurate intelligence.

But the fact that the two Russian satellites have not maintained constant elevations above the earth's surface leads some scientists to the conclusion that Russian missile men may not be as super as at first reported.

One chance for the United States to demonstrate supremacy would be for its satellite and missile experts to launch a moon that would go into a truly circular orbit, instead of the elliptical orbits followed by the Sputniks.

There is little real prospect of achieving this. For one thing, the United States is still in the engineering stage on developing missile engines with 225,000-pound thrust. This is the calculated minimum required to launch Sputnik 1.

The first U. S. satellite will weigh only 22 pounds. By next fall the U. S. may be able to launch a 500-pound satellite. Within the 18 months that the

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—There isn't much point in shouldering my way into the suddenly avid quest for scientists in this country, nor do I want to report that New York teems with miniature Einsteins, but the fact seems to be that it does. The streets, sidewalks and apartment houses are loaded with near-21st-Century little geniuses who think nothing of fixing every gadget in the house by the simplest means possible.

There is a playwright I know whose TV set began to run in quivering parallel lines of alternating black and white, to sudden gusts of what looked like snow storms and otherwise it also showed signs of decrepitude and malaise.

Angry, and suspicious of repair agencies, whom he felt positive would tote him up a $93 bill for something not worth $2.50, he scowled at his 10-year-old son and said: "I'll let it go blank before I get it fixed."

"CONTROL yourself," said the midget Marconi. He got up from his homework, pulled the connector plug from the wall receptacle, turned the plug half-a-turn and put it back in. The set worked perfectly.

"Anybody knows that reversing a connector plug will clear the image," said the boy. And it did. The set now goes crazy only when channels are switched—say, from channel 2 to channel 4—but the playwright now blithely turns the plug and re-connects it and things work fine.

He asked the boy why it worked and got the most scientific answer imaginable: "Polarity change," said the midget, unconcernedly and with only the faintest trace of scorn.

AN ACTRESS of considerable stature in the New York theatre was livid the other day when her electric iron suddenly began to chill and no amount of fiddling would cause it to reheat. Her daughter, herself a budding actress, got up from a telephone into which she was yanking and with a sigh of boredom took the iron from her mother, whacked it firmly against the floor and, lo, the iron reheated. It hasn't faltered since.

A doctor's 12-year-old daughter kicked the family washing machine the other morning and quelled some odd groans which were rising from its innards. She told them with some coldness that they were fogies and couldn't understand that naturally clothes tend to jump to one side during the washing process causing overbalance and excess wear on spinning parts.

"When they get out of round, noises take place," she said. "A firm kick restores balance for awhile and prevents nerve strain. Really, Mother, you are so backward."

THE HIGH school son of a major contractor of the town, a fellow used to huge payrolls, skyscrapers and big deals, taught his father a scientific lesson the other day—or night. The old man had the family car out and had the radio, the heater, the lights and everything else possible going all at once. The car was sluggish.

"Can't you add?" the boy asked impatiently. "You have a 12-volt battery with a certain output. Lights eat up some, stop lights eat up more, the heater fan and coil eat up still more and that foot-radio takes you over the output line."

"You are expecting 110 bites out of a 100-piece pie! Cut off something and you'll be fine. I imagine the cigarette lighter which in your impatience you are using every few minutes isn't helping your problem at all."

AND FINALLY, a genuine scientist, the pipe-smoking type, was studying a slide rule and making calculations at home one recent night. His 15-year-old son asked him what he was doing.

"I'm almost ready to prove that the Russians could not have got a satellite up," the old man said.

"What are you wasting time for?" the boy scolded. "There is no middle. Either they did or they didn't get the satellites up. It's axiomatic. If they didn't, what are the signals coming from? If they did, why drive yourself mad with nerves? There is nothing complex to be evaluated."

We also have creatures of learning in other departments. History, for example, Dolly Haas is a lovely actress and woman and she was dressed to the teeth for a dinner party the other night.

"Oh, Mother!" cried her 11-year-old daughter, "you look like a Princess! An old Princess! About, let's see, 15th Century! That's what I meant by old. Not you looking old but from an olden time."

Another Idol Shattered

WASHINGTON.—Now it develops that the long-concealed military secret of Custer's Last Stand wore skirts.

General George Armstrong Custer had a lady friend along at the disastrous Battle of the Little Big Horn. The military man who revealed the secret described her as a camp follower. He said she was "a very amorous type."

The implication was that if General Custer hadn't been paying so much attention to this pretty one, he might have escaped the Cheyenne Indians of Sitting Bull and Crazy Horse.

THE QUESTION before the House Government Information Subcommittee headed by Representative John E. Moss was why the military had chosen to conceal for so many generations the illicit romance of General Custer. It turned out that our fighting men are and always have been gentlemen.

They didn't want to hurt the feelings of General Custer's widow. My expert said the powers-that-be decided to sit on the official report on Custer's last friend so long as Mrs. Custer lived. He said when she died many years later, no one seemed interested.

Nobody brought up the subject, in fact, until Representative Moss and Company tried to locate the record of the general and his girl friend. As late as last week, said one of the Congressional operatives, he got nowhere in his efforts to get the official word on the general's lady-love.

NOW THE Congressmen had before them Vice-Admiral John M. Hoskins (retired), whose official file was to empty some of those 100,000 file drawers containing military secrets dating all the way back to the American Revolution and taking in all wars and most Indian skirmishes since then.

Admiral Hoskins said he and his staff were doing their dead-level best to rub the top secret, secret, and confidential stamps off numerous innocuous documents. He also said the Department of Defense had cut down drastically the number of men entitled to put their rubber stamps in red on papers they thought nobody else should see.

"But in my 40 years in the Navy I've never heard of a man being court-martialed for over-classifying a paper," said the white-mustached admiral. "That's the trouble."

ONE OF HIS assistants testified that documents stamped secret went back only to 1917. This startled the Congressmen. What, they asked, about the secrets of the American Revolution and the Civil War still hidden from the public? These weren't military secrets, insisted the admiral's helper. He said they merely were unavailable—for any one of numerous reasons.

"Well, what about Custer's Last Stand?" demanded Representative Dante B. Fascell.

"THAT NOW IS released," said the witness. The Congressmen then changed the subject and I got to a military man who filled me in on the lady present at the Custer massacre. My man did not want to be identified in print; General Custer's affaire d'amour seems to be a touchy subject around the Pentagon.

The historians can take it from there. They even can dig into the ancient files and identify the lady by name. I'm abandoning the story, myself. Fact is, I wish the boys had continued to keep it secret because I've always been an admirer of the general.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — "Nobody is safe," said Victor Borge. "But there is no life except happiness."

"Understanding of life can be achieved only by being happy."

It is a pleasure to meet off-stage this pleasant Dane, who milks money, music and laughter from the piano because in his home he retains his professional atmosphere of good humor.

But on the other hand when he barks—with a smile—the girls in his joint in the Plaza Hotel, his wife and his secretary, bounce, too. Pronto—and smiling.

This is the possible dream of every American man—to be the boss, have the girls realize it, and enjoy it. They have to have fun out of it, too.

Borge is an unusual man with great talent. He is a highly conscious craftsman. His use of piano humor is mannered, adroit, warm, often repetitive, but highly effective.

HE IS IN SOME ways the most successful humorist alive. One of his basic arts is to resist the impulse to bore an audience.

It is said that he received $100,000 for his first television show. It is also said that he will receive $200,000 or more for a show next Feb. 19 on CBS.

Borge came to this country as a poor immigrant with three things: his inability to speak English, his ability to disturb a piano, and his sense of humor.

Today he faces the world with the same charming defects, plus a wife and five children. He now runs a 450-acre farm in Connecticut and has become one of the nation's largest distributors of Rock Cornish hens.

This is now a million-dollar-a-year business with him, and the year-end season is at its height, but he says:

"I started with the Cadillac of the fowl business and now it is as common as the bicycle."

Although the margin of successful operation is notoriously short in the poultry field, Borge, who has earnings from the show world to plow into it, is optimistic that his efforts to popularize the Rock Cornish hen will yield him more than a mound of feathers.

This is a plump-breasted bird designed to sell at 68 to 99 cents a pound.

HIS ATTITUDE toward life is as dry and wry in private as it is on the platform before the piano and the public. The way he talks about it, however, allows the possibility that it is more personal and perhaps less professional. He has the gift of making you feel you excite him.

He says about this world:

"It is so small, so big, you cannot live long enough in it to do the things you want to."

"People's lives would be more interesting if they would just realize how they can change from moment to moment."

"There is no such thing as an uninteresting life, unless you get overwhelmed by problems and feel neglected by a higher power."

"There is no such thing as bad weather or a bad thing. What I don't like, my neighbor may."

There are people I see in the street I make big rings around. But happiness comes, as the weather does, in waves, not in streams.

"I am a very happy man."

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—I do not know what the United States Chamber of Commerce has on its mind, and I am too shy to ask, but it announces that next May will be Better Bedding Time. I had no suspicion that the Chamber was dissatisfied with its present arrangements.

I would pursue speculation on this further except that the worthy organization lists other days, weeks, months, and special occasions for 1958 which are equally intriguing, but less likely to raise the eyebrows. However, I cannot help wondering if March 16 to 22 is intended as any sort of prep period. The Chamber lists it as National Wildlife Week.

I can hardly wait for the new year to roll around, because it will have so many gladsome occasions to take our minds off this year's doleful celebrations, such as What-Happened-To-Our-Satellite month, Bed-King-To-Dulles week, and Gangster Garbage Collectors' day.

January may be rather a long month because the Chamber says it will have eleven weeks, but the time should pass pleasantly with Save The Pun Week, Large Economy Size Week, and—I don't know how the Chamber thinks up such wonderful names—a novel occasion which it designates as New Year's Day.

NEXT YEAR is going to be one of unending fun. March 10-15 will be National Smile Week; April 7-14, National Laugh Week; Aug. 7-14, National Clown Week, and Oct. 19-25, Pass The Laugh Week. I hope I live through them all without chronic melancholia.

There are three celebrations which undoubtedly have nothing in common, but which worry me. Feb. 23 is Bachelors Day; June 4, Old Maids' Day, and October, National High Fidelity month. Oh, well.

The nation's dieting mania will be recognized Feb. 3-9 under the euphemism of National Weight-watchers Week. But the day before it begins—Feb. 2—will be Ground Hog Day. You can watch your shadow too.

April will be National Ladder month. This should be celebrated extensively in the Nation's Capital. We have so many climbers.

I DO NOT KNOW whether the Chamber has anyone specifically in mind, but it has listed June 7-14 as "Let's Play Golf." It does not stipulate whether this is a week, or just a special occasion. It simply says "Let's Play Golf." Possibly it is merely granting permission.

Apparently the Chamber of Commerce desires us to watch our weight only from luncheon on because it has designated both February and March as good breakfast months, and September as National Better Breakfast month.

It has listed Nov. 12-22 as National Save a Wife Week, but refrains from specifying whose. During that period the nation is also exhorted to observe National Long Underwear week, but I hesitate to speculate as to whether there is any connection.

But the Chamber really comes up with a startling innovation in December. It has designated the 25th as Christmas Day.

Conservation
State Forest
Set In Area

ANNAPOLIS — The Department of Forests and Parks has begun acquiring land for a new state forest in Maryland.

Director Joseph F. Kaylor said the forest will be about one mile wide and stretch for about 30 miles along the length of South Mountain in Frederick and Washington counties. It will be primarily for conservation, instead of recreation.

Kaylor said extensive damage has been done to the mountain in the past by sudden, heavy rainfall.

With the forest, he said, the state hopes to prevent any further timber spoilage and to restore water-saving cover to the mountain's rocky spine.

The director also announced yesterday that his department is expanding its future plans for parks and forests because of mushrooming population in Maryland.

He said revisions in a long-range plan launched in 1952 should be ready for presentation to Gov. McKeldin and the General Assembly before the legislative session opening here in February.

Discussion Set
On Area Sewage

Water and sewage problems in the Cresaptown and LaVale areas will be discussed at a meeting called tomorrow by the Allegany County Health Department.

The meeting will be held at 2 p. m. in the department's training center in the Union Street County Building, with J. Byron Dowling, head of the Sanitation section, presiding.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, will attend.

Invitations have been extended to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, the LaVale Sanitary and Civic Improvement Association, Cresaptown Improvement Association, representative citizens and realtors interested in developments in the areas.

Pumping Stations
Inspected Today

Two of the three pumping stations needed for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program were given their final inspection this afternoon, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

The completed units are the Ridgeley and the Mill Race pumping stations. The third, at the B & O Viaduct, is under construction.

Present for the inspection were representatives of the United States Government, City of Cumberland, Town of Ridgeley and the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, contractor for all three pumping stations.

The stations will be turned over to the City of Cumberland for operation and maintenance when they have been formally accepted by the Corps of Army Engineers.

Country Club Announces Schedule Of Social Events

A calendar of social events for the Thanksgiving season has been announced by the Cumberland Country Club. The dance committee is comprised of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Ryan, chairmen, Dr. and Mrs. Harry F. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard D. Schwab, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ponton and Morton W. Peskin Jr.

Sunday, a pre-Thanksgiving buffet supper will be served from 5:30 until 8 p. m. at the club and on Wednesday, November 27, the annual Thanksgiving dance will be held, and on December 3, the Women's Golf Association will hold its third annual "Santa Claus Coming To Town" public card party.

Season tickets will be honored for the dance Thanksgiving Eve from 10 p. m. until 2 p. m. Music will be by the Townsmen. A special feature of the evening will be a dance program presented by "Walter and Helen," professional talent from Pittsburgh. Carroll Boggs, manager, plans to have Walter and Helen conduct a series of dancing lessons for club members if there is sufficient interest. All members interested may telephone Mr. Boggs for particulars so that he can proceed with a schedule. Both dancers have received instruction from the Arthur Murray School, and conduct classes in the Pittsburgh area.

Central WSCS Program Given At Hall

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Central Methodist Church met recently in Fellowship Hall of the church with Mrs. John Pfeiffer, vice president, presiding.

The service was led by Mrs. Ruth Moreland. The program, entitled "The Mind That Was In Christ," was under the direction of Mrs. James Elliott, secretary of student work. Speakers were Rev. James Elliott and James Cave.

Mrs. Virgil Eackles and Miss Shirley Johnson were appointed to represent the WSCS on a committee sponsored by the commission on education which will study the leadership needs of the church.

Reports were given by Mrs. Harry Lewis, promotion secretary; Mrs. Wallace Petrea, secretary of missionary education; and Miss Olive Leasure, secretary of Christian Social Relations. Mrs. R. J. Reuschlein presented the "Racial Policy Character" which it was voted to adopt in line with action taken by the other divisions of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. William Wasley, secretary of spiritual life, reported on the week of prayer services and also stated prayer meetings are being held at the church Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Frank Perdew presented the "Askings" for the year for supply work and it was voted to accept them. They amounted to $27. It was voted to use the proceeds from Monday's bazaar for carpeting the church sanctuary.

Mrs. W. H. Kight reported the truck from New Windsor will be in Cumberland December 2 and if the used grease, candles, etc. are given to her, she will see that they get to the pick-up point. It was stated worn sheets and worn warm blankets can be used by the Associated Charities in making crib sheets and blankets.

Following the business meeting refreshments were served by Group 1, Mrs. Frank Perdew, leader.

Swanson Class Plans Jingle Party For Dec.

The Swanson Memorial Bible Class of the Second Baptist Church made plans for its Christmas jingle party at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hoggard, 126 Race Street. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Mary Robinson. Cards were signed and sent to the sick and shut-ins.

The party will be held at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Robinson at the December meeting. Class sisters will be revealed and new ones chosen.

Mrs. Edna Leese, hostess, served refreshments. Others present were Mrs. Gertrude Wilkes, Mrs. Regina Williams, Mrs. Minnie Gibson, Mrs. Elsie Groves, Miss Nettie Aberlee, Miss Charity Kifer, Mrs. Laura Valentine, Mrs. Edith Yutzy, Mrs. Mary Robinson and Mrs. Leese.

Events Briefly Noted

The Goodwill Class of the Potomac Park EUB Church will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Audrey Witt, Potomac Park.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Firemen will meet tomorrow night at the fire hall at 8 p. m. Hostesses for the social hour will be Mrs. Leona McClellan, Mrs. Vera Jewell and Mrs. Leola Knieriem.

District Auxiliaries Visited By VFW Department Heads

District 3, Ladies Auxiliaries to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, received its annual visitation from the department officers at the meeting Sunday at the Henry Hart post home. The local auxiliary 1411 was hostess. Mrs. Goldie Speis presided.

The visitors were Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, president of the V.F.W. Auxiliaries, Department of Maryland; Mrs. Nancy Simons, junior vice president; Miss Rose Wilson, chaplain; Mrs. Helen Avoy, treasurer; Mrs. Mary McCoullah, historian; Mrs. Margaret McGuirk, youth activities chairman; Mrs. Audrey Burger, cancer clinic chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Ridgely, home fund chairman; Mrs. Julia Risler, Baker VA Center chairman; Mrs. Pauline Heims, flag bearer; Mrs. Marie Coles, legislative chairman; Mrs. Agnes Eberneze, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, community service chairman; Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman, Department Essay chairman; and Mrs. Flora Williams, past department president.

Mrs. Reynolds, her staff and chairman were escorted into the room with the colors. Speaking on membership and other projects, Mrs. Reynolds stated that the local auxiliary had done outstanding work on the cancer program. A trophy will be awarded the auxiliary in memory of Mrs. Elsie Kilroy, who was a past department president.

Greetings were presented from the various auxiliaries to District 3. Mrs. Risler, Baker VA chairman, states that a party has been planned for the patients at the hospital for December 15, at 2 p. m. All auxiliaries in the district will participate.

The following reported on events being held by their respective groups: Mrs. Audrey Crabbe, Henry Hart; Mrs. Risler, William D. Byron; Mrs. Leonard Powers, Alvin C. Neat; Mrs. Naomi Sheetz, Queen's Point Memorial; and Mrs. Evelyn Piper, Clifford B. Sister.

The next district meeting will be held in McCole in March.

Mrs. Lillian Myers won a quilt that was contributed to Henry Hart Auxiliary by Mrs. Rosalie Everstine.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by Mrs. Crabbe and her committee. About 50 members attended.

Wall Street Hears...

NEW YORK — (UN) — Wall Street Hears: Moore-McCormack lines this year will earn about the same as last year but net per share will be lower than 1956's $3.02 because of the 300,000 shares issued in acquisition of the Robin line.

Continuation of the $1.80 Continental Can dividend is expected, though some sources have revised earnings estimates downward for 1957 to $3.60 which would be about 12 cents under the 1956 net.

Talk of Guaranty Trust raising the dividend at the next board meeting. Net for this year estimated at better than $5 vs. $4.70 in 1956.

Baruch Seen 'Frustrated' In Biography

Elder Statesman
Afraid To Risk
Failure In Public

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Last summer, there was a tizzy in literary, financial and political circles when Bernard Baruch and Margaret Coit arrived on the publishing scene in a dead heat with an autobiography and a biography.

Why, people asked, had Baruch withdrawn his blessing from the Coit biography after more than five years of collaboration? Both were silent. The only obvious answer was that, after trying collaboration with several would-be biographers, the exacting Baruch had decided that his was the ultimate responsibility for keeping the record straight on his long-time association with the world's great.

Coit Book Delayed
Instead of colliding head-on with the first volume of Baruch's autobiography, the Coit book—"Mr. Baruch"—was delayed when it was selected as a Book-of-the-Month alternate for December and for condensation in Look magazine.

Published by Houghton, Mifflin, it appears today.
Baruch's first volume, dictated in less than a year, appeared in August on his 87th birthday, hit the best-seller lists and stayed on week after week. It is an episodic, fast-reading account of his life until the end of World War II. The first part of the massive, 665-page Coit book is almost identical, since she worked primarily from Baruch's papers and Baruch's memory, although he finally refused her permission to quote.

Baruch wrote "My Own Story."
History Background
Miss Coit has placed that story against the background of American history, and sometimes of the world over a period of 85 years. There are spots where the Red Shirts of South Carolina, or Woodrow Wilson and other fateful figures, move through the pages almost to the obliteration of Baruch, but never to his detriment—until near the end.

When she attempts to sum up, Baruch emerges not as the wartime czar who drove the nation so relentlessly into industrial mobilization, whom she earlier described in heroic fashion, but as a frustrated old man.

He remains a titan to Miss Coit, but one who would have been much greater had he accepted responsibility for carrying out himself more of the programs which he handed others ready-made. She says he didn't dare risk failure by accepting public office except on a few brief occasions.

And so comes the answer to what happened between Miss Coit and Baruch. He says nothing. His second volume is due out next fall.

It may contain no reply. Or it may merely show by exposition that if Baruch had attempted detailed implementation of his ideas he would never have covered so much territory, been revered by so many leaders who were willing to take his ideas and do the work themselves.

Once Rail Center May Have To Change Name

GENESEE DEPOT, Wis. (AP)—The tiny community of Genesee Depot, once one of the country's busiest railroad shipping centers for farm products, may have to change at least part of its name.
The Milwaukee Road has closed the depot and put the building up for sale.

SENTENCE CUT — Roger Touhy, 59-year-old ex-gangster, came closer to freedom today when Illinois Gov. William Stratton lopped 27 years of his long kidnapping sentence. Touhy, now eligible for parole in August, 1959, originally was jailed for 99 years for the kidnapping of John "Jake The Barber" Factor.

Wake Forest Student Body Would Dance

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—Students at Wake Forest College jostled on the campus plaza and burned in effigy the retiring president of the Baptist State Convention after the convention ruled out campus dancing.

About 500 or 600 students, mostly male, participated in the demonstration last night at the Baptist-supported school.

Hi-fi record players blasted at full volume as the laughing and cheering crowd of students danced and shouted such slogans as "Down with the Baptists."

Student leaders said about 25 per cent of the student body joined in the protest against the Baptist State Convention action in Raleigh. The convention overwhelmingly vetoed campus dancing and apparently ended a lengthy controversy on the topic. School trustees previously had voted to allow dancing.

The students, most of whom wore dark glasses or obscured their faces with handkerchiefs, climaxed the hour long demonstration by burning an effigy labeled "Dr. J. C. Canipe." Canipe retired as president of the Baptist State Convention after speaking against lifting the ban imposed by the convention in 1937.

College policemen took two students, unidentified, in custody for lighting firecrackers.

Workshop On Master Of Arts
Program Slated Tomorrow

FROSTBURG — President R. Cote, Miss Irene Condry, Miss Bowen Hardesty of Frostburg, Miss Esther Doerr, Miss Carrie French, Miss Charlotte Feer, James Hosack, Walter Rissler, members of the college faculty will be held all day tomorrow and Saturday morning to develop a program for a Master of Arts degree in elementary education.

Hardesty pointed out that Dr. Margaret Lindsay of Columbia University Teachers College, who was here a month ago for a lecture, will again be on campus for the two days to serve as consultant for the workshop.

Following a panel discussion today between 7 and 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Compton Hall, Dr. Donald Tewksbury, also of Columbia University, who will act as moderator, will then meet from 8 until 9:30 p.m. with the college faculty to discuss the proposed Master of Arts degree.

Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction, is general chairman of the two-day workshop. Dr. Robert Novak is chairman of the planning committee, assisted by Miss Angela Brady, Dr. Richard Copeland, Don Emerson, Hardesty, Diehl, Robert Jones, Mrs. Grace Kopp, Dr. Hazel Ramsay, William Stewart and Dr. William Van Newkirk.

Several subcommittees have been set up to handle individual problems. Dr. Van Newkirk heads the committee on objectives with Dr. Wilfred Black, Mrs. Rita Clark, Miss Thelma Hadley and Miss Lillian Wellner assisting.

Dr. Richard Copeland is chairman of the committee on professional education. Committee members include Dr. Ward K.

Central PTA
Meet Honors
Late Teacher

LONACONING — A memorial service was held for the late Mrs. Marabel Haran at the Tuesday night meeting of the Central Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Doris Struck sang "Beyond the Blue Horizon" and Galen Beeman gave an appropriate reading. Mrs. Haran had been a member of the school faculty for many years.

Mrs. Thelma Inskeep, president, presided and Mrs. Naomi Grove, secretary, reported that a profit of $413.67 had been made from the Halloween social.

"Father's Night" was observed and Miss Marian Picken's room was given an award for having the most fathers present at the meeting. Attendance awards for the most parents present went to Mrs. Betty Long and Mrs. Viola Kelly's rooms.

Theodore Foote, art instructor at Allegany High School, Cumberland, was guest speaker. He discussed the importance of creative art with young children.

Lawrence Dean, youth director of Central YMCA, Cumberland, spoke on the swimming program at the "Y" and urged the parent-teacher group to sponsor a swim class from here. He explained that a number of PTA groups are promoting this project.

Mrs. Inskeep appointed Mrs. Anna Dodds, Mrs. Phyllis Nicol and Mrs. Margaret Dean as a committee to keep in touch with Dean about the swim course.

Edward McPartland, chairman of the Central and Valley Improvement Committee, spoke concerning a letter from the State Roads Commission about the walkway to Valley High.

It was announced that a Christmas treat will be given to students prior to the holidays. Committees in charge will be: Trimming the tree—Mrs. Bernadette Brown, Mrs. Alice Steele, Mrs. Wanda Gardner, Mrs. Hannah Lambertson, Mrs. Isabel Moses and Blaine Kroll; trimming the cafeteria—Mrs. Betty Whittington, Mrs. Ann Foote, Mrs. Nellie Moffatt, Mrs. Leona Duckworth, Mrs. Sally Steiding, Mrs. Shirley Major, Mrs. Mae Zarger and Mrs. Peggy Thomas.

In charge of the treat are Mrs. Mildred Lewis and Mrs. Robert Russell.

Refreshments were served.

Brief Mention
Patricia Carter, 82 Beall Street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carter; Debra Ann Buskirk, RD 1, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buskirk; Mrs. William Griffith, RD 2 and Mrs. J. Donald Connor, 2 Barnard Place, were admitted to Miners Hospital as surgical patients.

Mrs. Laura Gross, 7 East Main Street, and Clarence Llewellyn Midland, were admitted to Miners Hospital as medical patients.

Mrs. Richard Stott, RD 2, Frostburg, is a medical patient at Miners Hospital.

The Miners Hospital Auxiliary will hold a bake sale at Shuck's store, Broadway, Saturday from 9 a. m. until 2 p. m.

Mrs. Shirley McKenzie, Wrights Crossing, has returned home from Sacred Heart Hospital after having been a surgical patient there.

Ralph Brown, Finzel, is a medical patient at Miners Hospital.

Joint Meet Planned
WESTERNPORT — The Baraca and Berean Bible classes of First Baptist Church will hold a joint meeting at the church tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

A "splash party" will be held at the YMCA by the Junior Tri-Hi-Y and Junior Hi-Y in the near future.

Peggy Russell was named top saleswoman in the Junior Tri-Hi-Y Club's Booster membership campaign. She obtained 52 members for the Valley Boosters Club. She received a prize for attaining this goal.

Roberta Love secured 45 new memberships: Kay Green, 33 and Deanne Steiding, 23. The Valley Boosters gave the Junior Tri-Hi-Y club a contribution for obtaining a grand total of 245 members for 1957-58.

As a successful party at Valley High School, the Tri-Hi-Y entertained the Hi-Y group. Nancy Humphrey, Kay Trost, Rusty Dicken, Arlene Staup, June Timney, Janice Winters, Georgianna Langham and Kay Green were hostesses. Games were played and a dance was held.

Hospital Council
Approves Billing
Workmen's Fund

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — The Upper Monongahela Hospital Council has approved the billing of Workmen's Compensation fund patients as individuals, but has taken no immediate step toward such a procedure.

The council adopted at a meeting yesterday a resolution approving the change in procedure put into effect by hospitals in eight Southern West Virginia cities last Saturday.

The southern action represented a departure from the past practice of billing the compensation fund for treatment of injured workers covered by the program.

Instead, the southern hospitals are billing the workers directly as private patients, and leaving the workers to seek reimbursement from the fund.

The patients presumably would have to make up any difference between allowable fees under the compensation program and the total amounts of their bills.

The southern hospitals acted in protest against a new fee schedule which Workmen's Compensation announced will become effective Jan. 1.

The new schedule will represent a $1 daily increase in the basic room rate and 8-per cent boosts in other fees, but hospital spokesmen have insisted the increase is too small.

Court Of Honor
Planned Tonight

FROSTBURG — Boy Scout Troop 42, sponsored by First Methodist Church, will hold a Court of Honor today at 8 p. m. in the Scout hall in the basement of the educational building of the church.

Daniel Folk, assistant scoutmaster, will be in charge of the program and will be assisted by Howard Ward, scoutmaster; Gladwyn Lewis, Explorer advisor and members of the Explorer crew.

Parents and friends of the Scouts are urged to attend the meeting.

RESOLUTION
Of Mayor and City Council On The Death Of William Eberly
WHEREAS, we have learned with deep sorrow that it has pleased Almighty God to take from our midst on November 18, 1957 WILLIAM EBERLY, who has served as a member of the City Council of Frostburg for 7 1/2 years; and
WHEREAS, WILLIAM EBERLY has always been a respected citizen of Frostburg, and has always been willing to lend his efforts and talents for the advancement of all civic and charitable enterprises, and has at all times conducted himself in such a manner that he has endeared himself to the members of the City Council of Frostburg and to all those who have come in contact with him; and
WHEREAS, we feel that the City of Frostburg has lost a faithful and conscientious councilman and the community as a whole has lost a respected citizen, and his wife and family has lost a devoted husband and father;
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Mayor and City Council of Frostburg that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the City and that a copy thereof be sent to his widow as an expression of our love and affection for the deceased.
This resolution was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Mayor and City Council on the 18th day of November, 1957.

County Farm Bureau Event
Set Tomorrow

ROMNEY — The annual dinner meeting of the Hampshire County Farm Bureau will be held tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. in Augusta School.

Raymond Balenger of Bunker Hill, president of the West Virginia Farm Bureau, will be the featured speaker. A business session will be given over to the election of directors.

Robert Mollohan, who was the Democratic candidate for governor of West Virginia in the recent election and owns a farm in the Levels area of Hampshire County, will be toastmaster for the event.

Present officers of the Hampshire County Farm Bureau are: Long, vice president and Howard Mulleady, secretary-treasurer.

Speaker Named
Rev. Floyd Finch, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Lenoir, N. C., has consented to be the speaker for the annual union evangelistic services which were inaugurated here 11 years ago with Dr. Charles I. Stephenson of the Disciples of Christ denomination as the first speaker.

During the series of services a different representative of each denomination in the town will be chosen as the speaker. The services, set for January with the dates to be released later, also feature the Romney Choral Club which was organized as a result of the services ten years ago.

Rev. Finch is a former classmate of Rev. Arch M. Hewitt, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church here.

Byrd Candidate
For Nomination
To Senate Seat

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Rep. Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.) of Sophia will seek next Aug. 5, his party's nomination to the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican Chapman Revercomb of Charleston.

Byrd, 39-year-old representative of the state's 6th Congressional District for the last three terms, announced his candidacy last night.

Byrd also said that the United Mine Workers headquarters in Washington had indicated it would support former Gov. William C. Marland for the Democratic nomination to the Senate next year.

Marland won a five-way race in 1956 for nomination to a short term after the death of Democratic Sen. Harley M. Kilgore of Beckley, but Revercomb defeated Marland in the general election.

Discussion On Brophytown,
Water Problem Continues

WESTERNPORT — Four citizens of Brophytown met with the Mayor and Commissioners last night to discuss the water situation which confronts the town and Westernport. The delegation was comprised of Harold Haines, Richard Mackley, Minor Rounds and Elmer Sheffield.

Mayor Okey Michael pointed out that a larger water service line is necessary. The pipeline needs to be renewed and several persons are on lines that do not have individual shut-offs. Some water takers are in arrears and the town cannot shut off their water without depriving others who are paying their account promptly.

A four-inch line is necessary to relieve the water situation, and there is a need for two fire plugs. At the present time there are no fire plugs. If fire plugs were installed it would reduce the fire insurance on approximately 40 houses there.

The delegation is endeavoring to get a map to make an estimate of the amount of pipe needed.

Another meeting of town officials and residents of Brophytown will be held Wednesday, December 4.

Mayor Michael reported that receipts from parking meters the past week amounted to $88.03.

Alvin Pence, water commissioner, reported the reservoir on Chestnut Street had been repaired. There are apparently no leaks. The town now has a million gallons of water available.

There probably are more laughs in the old family album than there are in any old joke book.

Food Collection
Slated Saturday

PIEDMONT — The annual collection of non-perishable food for the United Organizations will be conducted by Boy and Girl Scouts on Saturday in the Tri-Towns area.

Pickups will start at Westernport, Piedmont, Luke, Beryl and Bloomington at 10 a. m. Alton R. Portney, chairman of camping and activities for the Boy Scouts, will be in charge of the collection.

The foodstuff will be stored in the building of Roy Walker on Second Street. The Senior Girl and Boy Scouts will meet at the building at 10 a. m. and the others will report to their leaders at that time.

Donations collected for the United Organizations will be used for needy persons at Christmas and other times when aid is necessary.

Launch Program
Against Habitual
Traffic Violators

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The State Motor Vehicles Department has launched a war against habitual and flagrant traffic violators with the suspension of drivers' licenses as its weapon.
Commissioner Hubert A. Kelly said under the program started yesterday, the department is suspending licenses, without preliminary hearing, upon receipt of evidence of the following violations:
1. An offense for which mandatory revocation of license is required upon conviction.
2. Reckless or unlawful operation of a vehicle which caused or contributed to an accident, resulting in death, property damage or personal injury to another.
3. Frequent convictions of serious offenses which would indicate disrespect for traffic laws and a disregard for highway safety.
4. Habitual reckless or negligent driving.
5. Driver incompetency.
6. Unlawful or fraudulent use of an operator's license.
7. An offense in another state, which if committed in West Virginia, would be a basis for suspension or revocation.
Kelly said the department would notify a driver of its decision to suspend his license. Upon request of the licensee, an opportunity for a department hearing will be provided within a period of 20 days from date of notification of the suspension.
Kelly said the department is setting up a filing system to keep tabs on all traffic violations recorded throughout the state. He is asking magistrates and municipal and criminal courts to forward records of driver violations, parking tickets excepted.

Westernport
PTA To Elect
New Officers

WESTERNPORT—A nominating committee comprised of Miss Nellie Dowling, principal, Mrs. Paul Daddysman, Mrs. Eugene Kiddy, Mrs. James Nichol and George McDowell was selected at a recent meeting of Hammond Street Parent-Teacher Association at the school. Mrs. Paul Stevens, president, presided. The committee will make a report at the next meeting.
After classroom visits, a short business meeting was followed by a program.
Miss Dowling reported the remodeling of the former Bruce High School for use of the Hammond Street School, to be known as Westernport Elementary School, is progressing satisfactorily. No date was announced for the students who will move to their new class rooms.
Delegates were named to the Allegheny Council meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association to be held at Johnson Heights School in Cumberland on Monday, December 2.

Urban Development Hit By Editor In Seminar Address

BALTIMORE (AP)—A newspaper executive yesterday told an urban renewal seminar that "there are a lot of people who ought to sell their cows and move to town."

J. Russell Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald said, "I think we ought to be able to figure out something better than cities that are unfit to live in or suburbs that are unfit to work in and I don't see why we cannot have suburbs and cities that are both fit to live in and fit to work in. Most folks, I feel sure, will prefer to get along without the ride . . ."

Keynote Speaker
Wiggins was keynote speaker for the all-day seminar on the critical relationship between the new federal highways program and problems of urban redevelopment.

The seminar was sponsored by the Greater Baltimore Committee and the Citizens Planning and Housing Assn.

Wiggins said "the only thing that safely can be predicted about the meeting we are now opening is that it will end in disagreement. The fact that the whole area of highway and metropolitan planning is something less than an exact science is reflected in the records of every meeting of this kind that is held."

Unsympathetic To View
The editor said he is unsympathetic with the point of view that modern highways will make it possible for more people to live in the country and work in the city.

"There really is no limit to the number of urban dwellers who can be accommodated, in close proximity to their work, by modern science. In the long run, it is a method that is better and cheaper than street and highway building and it has added the virtue of preserving a tax base in the central city."

He said he has nothing against suburban developments. "I am all for them," said Wiggins. "What I would like to do with the people who live in them and who are sick of fighting traffic morning and night is to bring their work out to them."

Complete Communities
"We ought to be aiming at complete communities, whether they are suburban or urban, we ought to be trying for integrated neighborhoods in which an increasing percentage of each individual's time can be spent productively."

Marine Re-Enlists For Six-Year Period

Sgt. Brice L. Russell, a member of the instructor-inspector staff for the Sixth Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, has re-enlisted for six years. He was sworn in by Captain Richard V. Molesky, inspector-instructor.

A veteran of four years service, he enlisted at Los Angeles after being discharged from the Marine Reserve. He served 14 months in Japan and Okinawa. He is married to the former Emily Ann Price of Cumberland.

Wreck, Blast Damage Actions Filed Against Local Firm

The Cumberland Contracting Company is being sued for a total of $24,500 in three separate actions filed in Circuit Court in connection with highway construction work along State Route 36 in the Mt. Savage and Corriganville areas.

Edward J. Ryan filed all three declarations. Mrs. Margaret Humbertson, 219 Emily Street, is suing the firm for $10,000 as a result of injuries she sustained in a motorcycle accident on July 6. In the other two suits, residents of the Homewood Addition area are seeking redress of damages to their property allegedly caused by the use of explosives by the company while working near Corriganville.

The cycle skidded off the road, causing the plaintiff to be thrown to the ground. She sustained several broken bones in her right foot and was bruised, shocked and cut. She was required to undergo hospital and medical treatment and suffered permanent disability to her foot, she said.

Benjamin H. Dorsey and his wife, Eleanor U. Dorsey, entered a suit seeking $7,500 property damages, while Eugene Johnson is seeking $7,000 damages. They claim that on June 28 explosives set off by the contracting company damaged their properties.

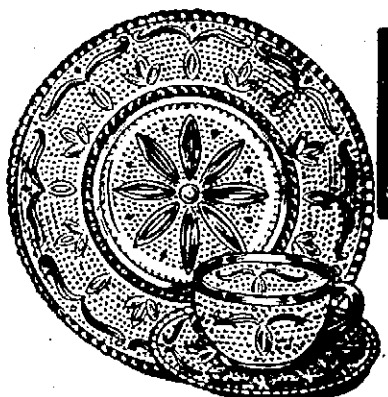

The impact broke a wall surrounding an adjacent property, shook the home premises, disturbed and shook the earth and cracked the ground which protected wells from which the plaintiffs got their water supply, they declared.

As a result of the damage, the water was caused to disappear and the families have been without the water supply since.

Gas Rate Increases Asked In 2 States

Claim Based On Need For Revenue

West Virginia Jump Would Be Twice That For Maryland

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company today asked the Public Service Commission of both Maryland and West Virginia for rate increases.

An annual increase of $465,000 is asked in its rates for Marylanders while $665,000 is requested in rate increases for customers in West Virginia.

The proposed rate increase in Maryland would raise costs for a customer using gas for cooking, water heating and other non-heating uses 81 cents a month. The increase would average $2.11 per month over a year's time for a typical heating customer, according to Carl C. Robbins, manager for C&A here.

Higher In West Virginia

The proposed West Virginia increases would average $1.82 per month for a customer using gas for cooking, water heating and other non-heating purposes. The bill for a heating customer would go up an average of $4.75 per month for a 12-month period.

Robbins said C. & A. is basing its Maryland and West Virginia applications on the financial results of its operations in those states for the 12 months ending July 31, 1957.

C. & A.'s last application for Maryland rates was based on operations in the year ending December 31, 1955. The company's last application for West Virginia rates covered operations a year earlier, namely the year ending December 31, 1954.

Robbins said the new rates are designed to offset increases in costs the company has had to pay since the end of 1955 in Maryland and, since 1954, in West Virginia. These include higher labor costs and increased prices on almost all materials and supplies used in company operations, he said.

Earns 4 1/2 Per Cent

Robbins pointed out that while C. & A. was technically permitted to earn a 6 to 6 1/2 per cent rate of return on its Maryland operations under the rates allowed the company by PSC on November 9, 1956, it is currently earning less than a 4 1/2 per cent rate of return on its operations.

Some $232,500 of the proposed increase would be kept by C. & A. as income for return, the balance of the request would go for state and federal income taxes, Robbins said.

Under present rates, a "typical" customer using 5,000 cubic feet of gas a month for cooking, water heating and clothes drying or refrigeration now pays $5.27 a month. This will be $6.08 a month under the new rates.

A heating customer who uses the same 5,000 cubic feet of gas a month for cooking and water heating and another 180,000 cubic feet a year for heating now pays $140.40 a year for gas heat. Under the proposed rates, this heating cost would increase to $156. The total effect of the new rates for heating customers on all gas used for both heating and non-heating purposes will be to increase the present Maryland charges of $203.64 to $228.96.

Seasonal Service

Robbins said C. & A. is proposing a new charge designed to offset part of the costs the company incurs because of rendering seasonal service to heating customers. This will amount to $1 a month for heating customers and is included in the Maryland heating cost figure of $156.00 a year. He pointed out that a large part of his company's present investment in pipeline and other facilities has been made necessary by cold weather peak demands of heating customers. During much of the year these facilities are not put to use even though they must be installed as a reserve for cold weather needs.

"It is only fair that heating customers pay the costs the company must meet to provide their cold weather gas service," Robbins said. "At the same time, we believe it will be more convenient for heating customers if this $1 heating charge is spread over the 12 months of the year rather than being applied to bills in the cold weather months when greater gas use automatically generates higher gas bills."

Robbins said that the new rates will put gas heat higher than the direct cost of coal for heating, but still some $65 to $70 a year below oil. He also cited government figures to show that the gas for cooking and water heating will still save customers in the Cumberland, Frostburg, Lonaconing and Westport about $68 a year.

Man Seeks Data On His Family

A St. Louis resident has written to Mayor Roy W. Eves seeking information on his family background.

T. C. Dressing informed Mayor Eves that his grandfather, John Wallace Shoemaker, was born in Cumberland on October 6, 1827, and was killed in the Civil War battle of Pilot Knob, Mo., on April 17, 1862.

Information being sought by Dressing includes the birthplace of his great-grandfather and great-grandmother, and the possibility of them having any brothers and sisters.

Information can be sent Dressing at 3635 Marceline Terrace, St. Louis 16, Mo.

St. Mary's Hi Will Present Play Tonight

St. Mary's High School will present a one-act play, "Linda's Scrapbook," today at 8 p. m. in the parish hall in commemoration of the centenary of the establishment of the motherhouse of the Ursuline Order at Louisville, Ky.

The Ursuline Sisters teach at St. Mary's.

Members of the cast include Linda Travis, Joan Barrett, Earleen Humbertson, Patricia Pisaneschi, Concetta Brehm, Nellie Cline, Ann McDade, Judy Lydinger, Ann Armbruster, Veronica Martin, Joan Wolf, Mary Jo Sirna, Charlene Seaders.

Marianne Day, Kay Hay, Jack Humbertson, James Lee, Pamela Green, Brenda Natale, Frieda Smith, Clarence Smith, Jeanne Pannone, Thomas Lyons, Mary Lois Berry, Donna Swartzell, Paul Griffin, Lawrence Kifer, Mary Jane Morris, Gale Hollen and Joann Shaffer.

The St. Mary's Glee Club will support the cast.

The Ursuline Order was founded in 1530 in Brescia, Italy, by Angela Merici and a group of 12 young women. The order came to the United States in 1727.

The Louisville motherhouse was founded by three Ursuline Sisters from Bavaria who arrived at the request of Bishop John Spaulding.

Their number today includes 548 professed nuns, 28 of whom are from St. Mary's parish.

Members of the order arrived at St. Mary's here on December 12, 1903, and opened the parish school three days later.

The faculty at St. Mary's School numbers 12 Ursuline Sisters, who along with three lay teachers and three priests staff the grade and high schools.

Navy Receives Three Road Bids

The U. S. Navy has received three bids on construction of an access road into the site of the naval radio facility which will be erected at Sugar Grove in Pendleton County near Franklin.

The roadway will be 2,600 feet long and run from the George Washington National Forest Road into the site. The roadway will be 12 feet wide.

Low bidder was Richard Homan of Sugar Grove, who offered to do the work for $3,918. Other bids were made by Echol Brothers, Staunton, Va., $4,287, and A. B. Torrance, Elkton, Va., $8,875.

The project includes grading out the roadway into the site, according to local union sources.

The Navy project is expected to cost between $9 and $12 million dollars and a large portion of the funds have been appropriated for the project. Upon completion, the work force at the facility will be approximately 300 persons.

LaVale School Holds Program

The LaVale Elementary School climaxed American Education Week with a visitation day program today.

Under the supervision of Miss Nellie Powell, principal, and the teachers each class presented a program in the rooms for their parents. The programs featured Thanksgiving poems, songs, art work and other stories.

Following the programs the teachers and parents were served refreshments under the direction of the home room mothers. Donald Paulman was chairman.

The punch bowls were presided over by Mrs. George Frick and Mrs. Selden H. Harris. Others assisting were Mrs. John Chaney, Mrs. Harold Brooks, Mrs. Lorimer J. Twigg, Mrs. Paul Baker, Mrs. Russell Bucy, and Mrs. George Bragg.

Firemen from South End Station this morning checked a call at the intersection of Massachusetts Avenue and Oldtown Road when a car caught on fire. Minor damage was reported.

Suspect Held In Robbery At Friendsville

Garrett Sheriff To Pick Up Man In Johnson City

Garrett County Sheriff James Frantz left Oakland this morning for Johnson City, Tenn., to return a suspect in the July 29 safe-cracking at a hardware store in Friendsville.

The sheriff's office this morning said the Tennessee Highway Patrol informed them yesterday that Earl Franklin, 31, was apprehended and being held in connection with the safe-cracking case.

A total of $37,510 was taken from the safe of the F. G. Fox and Sons Hardware Store with $25,000 of the total in non-negotiable U. S. savings bonds.

Elwood Kissner, 25, former Friendsville resident, and Oliver Rockett, 53, Baltimore, were tried in Garrett County Circuit Court September 6 and sentenced to 10 years each in the state penitentiary for grand larceny and breaking and entering.

Cpl. Samuel Conrad of the Maryland State Police said last night that a teletype was received at the LaVale barracks notifying authorities that Franklin had been taken into custody by the highway patrol and indicated he would waive extradition to Garrett County.

Cpl. Conrad said Franklin was a native of Johnson City, but was rooming in Washington when he met Kissner and Rockett.

All three, he said, were employed on a paint crew and had worked together on various jobs. Police said Franklin made his first trip to Garrett County just prior to the safe-cracking.

Kissner was the only one of the three who knew his way to Friendsville, according to police, who said the men made a three-way split of the money with Franklin getting a little more than his share of the loot.

Approximately a week after the safe-cracking, Franklin purchased a 1957-model station wagon, police said, and had been "on the go" ever since.

Conrad said both men identified Franklin as the one who actually cracked the safe. He is reported to have a wife and child in Baltimore and authorities of that city had been on the lookout for her home since the time of the safe-cracking.

During the trial in Garrett County last September, Kissner, who had no previous criminal record, told the court that he was not so much interested in the money but "just wanted to see a safe cracked."

He also admitted he "fingered" the hardware store for Rockett and the third man, who was still at large. Kissner said he did not realize at the time that the safe would contain such a large sum.

Rockett, who had a criminal record, admitted he had burned the $25,000 worth of bonds in the back yard of his home in Baltimore.

The two men were apprehended in Baltimore a few days after the crime.

About $4,400 was recovered from a rock pile near Friendsville and another $1,900 was located at the Richmond, Va., home of relatives of one of the men.

The third man, identified as Franklin, was believed to have escaped with between $6,000 and $7,000 of the loot.

Speaker To Air Church Merger

The Churchmen's Brotherhood of Christ will be host at a meeting today at 7:30 p. m. at the church at which Rev. Dr. Harvey E. Black, president of the Pittsburgh Synod, will be the speaker.

Rev. Dr. Black will speak concerning the recent merger of the Evangelical and Reformed Church with the Congregational Christian Church.

The meeting will be open to the membership of the city's three former Evangelical and Reformed churches, St. Mark's, St. Matthew's and Zion.

Virginia Avenue PTA Will Meet On Friday

The Virginia Avenue School PTA will meet Friday at 7 p. m. at which time visitation to the various home rooms will be made.

At 7:30 p. m. a film, "Answering The Child's Whys" will be shown and a discussion on the film will follow. The business meeting will then take place. Refreshments will be served.

Class Meeting Changed

The Class of 1933 of Allegheny High School will meet Friday, November 29, at Central YMCA. The meeting had previously been scheduled for tomorrow.

Joseph Pratt Honored By Optimist Club

Joseph William Pratt, who was blinded during the fighting in World War II, was honored last night by the Cumberland Optimist Club.

He was presented the plaque, awarded annually to the city's "Most Optimistic Person," during a Ladies Night meeting of the club at Central YMCA.

Pratt, "Billy" to his friends, has operated the newspaper stand at Memorial Hospital for the past 10 years.

He began his World War II service in 1941 and was a member of a tank destroyer unit when he lost his eyesight in March 1945 during the battle of the Rhine River in Germany.

He lives at 511 Greenway Avenue with his wife, the former Della Bush, whom he married the year after he was discharged from the Army. They have two sons and two daughters.

Pratt is 40 and a son of Mrs. Agnes Pratt, 251 William Street, and the late Joseph F. Pratt, and is one of eight children.

He likes to tap dance and play the drums and takes pride in arranging the yard before the Christmas tree at his home each Yuletide.

Hugh Funkhouser, chairman of the selection committee, was master of ceremonies. Carl Winfield introduced the award winner, and Walter Weires presented the plaque.

Democracy Event Set For Sunday

Eight finalists will compete Sunday at 2 p. m. over Radio WUCM in the "Voice of Democracy" contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to John R. McVeigh, committee chairman.

Judges include Miss Jean Camper, superintendent of special education in Allegheny County; Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church; Earl E. Manges, local attorney; John Fisher, faculty member at Frostburg State Teachers College; and Loman C. "Chad" Riley, program director of Radio Station WTBO.

Tape recordings of the speeches will be made, and the winner's will be entered in the state contest.

The state winner will receive a trophy and all-expense trip to the annual national awards program in Washington during February. At that time four national winners will be selected from the 51 state finalists—representing all 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska and the District of Columbia.

The lot, owned by Wotring, is located in a Residential B zone. The Zoning Board of Appeals will act on the appeal.

West Virginia Police Hold Two For Theft

West Virginia State Police are holding two juveniles for District of Columbia authorities after they were picked up yesterday in a stolen car.

The youths are being held in Hampshire County jail at Romney and were expected to be taken before authorities today to sign extradition papers.

Mrs. John Bond, who operates a restaurant and service station at Hanging Rock on U. S. Route 50 east of Romney, notified the state police yesterday afternoon that two youths had driven from her establishment without paying for a tank full of gasoline.

A roadblock was set up at the western limits of Romney by West Virginia State Trooper C. E. Dorsey and Hampshire County Sheriff Luther Hutter.

Upon questioning after being stopped by the authorities, the two 15-year-old boys admitted to having stolen the car earlier in the day in Washington.

The car's registration revealed it was owned by a Doris Burns of Upper Marlboro, Md., although the vehicle carried Florida tags.

Trooper Dorsey said he found the car's original license plates on the floor of the car, after which the youths confessed to having driven to Bolling Air Force Base near Washington when they took the Florida tags from a parked car.

One of the teenagers told Trooper Dorsey that his home was in Washington state, and that he had been visiting his stepfather in the district.

The young pair is believed to have been headed for the West Coast when they were picked up.

Correct Addresses Sought For Plates

The commissioner of motor vehicles, James B. Monroe, said today the department is preparing to print applications for new license plates, and requests that the department be notified in writing if car owners have moved, or the address on the registration card is incorrect.

Name, correct address, title number & license plate number should be given as well as the number of the driving license, if that too bears an incorrect address.

Cub Scout Pack To Meet Friday

Cub Pack 10, sponsored by Parkside and LaVale PTA, will meet Friday at the LaVale Methodist Church.

Boys between 8-10 interested in joining the Cub Scouts are invited to attend.

Woman Injured In Auto Wreck

A Bedford County woman was "critically" injured in a one-vehicle accident shortly before noon today near Bedford.

Attaches at Bedford County Memorial Hospital said Mrs. James Young, of Charlesville, Pa., was in "critical" condition. The extent of her injuries could not be determined.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford said Mrs. Young was hurt in a one-car accident, but details were not available. Her husband, James Young, is a former chief of police of Bedford.

Tall Cedars Ceremonial Set Saturday

The annual ceremonial of Algonquin Forest 140, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, will be held Saturday at the Ali Ghan Shrine City Club. The constituent forests of District 21, Hagerstown 95, Frederick 132 and Martinsburg 150, will participate in the program.

Representatives of the Supreme Forest of the organization will be guests at the ceremonial. They will include Edward Reines, supreme scribe; Thomas C. Havell and John McFall, past supreme tall cedars, and Robert L. Mason, district representative and a past supreme tall cedar.

The program will begin with physicals at 4 p. m., followed by a dinner at 4:45 p. m. A parade, in which 25 candidates will participate, will get under way at 6 p. m.

Marshal for the parade is Jack Carnell. The units will form at the Armory on South Centre Street and proceed north to Market Street, across to Mechanic Street and south to Harrison Street from where the marchers will return to the Armory before disbanding.

Included in the parade will be the Algonquin Forest band, the Hagerstown Forest Ranger band, and the degree teams of the host unit who will be in full dress. A delegation from each of the constituent forests will sponsor a unit in the parade.

Crooks Appointed To Health Committee

W. E. Crooks, plant manager for Celanese Corporation of America, has been named to the honorary committee on arrangements for the annual Governor's Safety-Health Conference in Baltimore May 8 and 9.

Crooks in accepting the appointment by Governor McKeldin said Henry A. Johnson, supervisor of safety and plant protection would attend as plant representative.

Missionaries To Speak At First Baptist

Meetings Scheduled Saturday And Sunday At Local Church

The First Baptist Church, Bedford and Columbia Streets, will observe its annual missionary emphasis weekend Saturday and Sunday at which time Rev. and Mrs. John S. McGee, Southern Baptist missionaries to Nigeria, will be the guests, according to Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor.

The first session will be on Saturday at 3 p. m. at which time Mrs. McGee will teach the foreign mission study course on Nigeria to the members of the Girls Auxiliaries, Young Women's Auxiliary, Business Women's Circle, Women's Missionary Society, and other interested persons.

Supper Scheduled

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert B. Young, president of the Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church, a supper for the entire church family will be served at 6 p. m. Following the supper there will be a session in the sanctuary. Slides of Africa will be shown at this time.

Sunday morning Rev. and Mrs. McGee and their two sons, John David, 14, and Charles Sidney, 9, will visit the various departments of the Sunday School.

At 6:30 p. m. the Baptist Training Union will sponsor an open forum at which time those attending may ask questions concerning the mission work in Nigeria, the worldwide ministry of Southern Baptists, the qualifications for becoming a missionary, or any other pertinent question.

To Speak Sunday

Rev. Mr. McGee will speak at both the 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. worship services Sunday.

Both Rev. and Mrs. McGee are natives of North Carolina and are graduates of Mars Hill Junior College and Baylor University. Mrs. McGee is a graduate of Woman's Missionary Training School and Rev. Mr. McGee of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary both of which are in Louisville, Ky.

They were appointed missionaries to Nigeria in 1945 and spent their first four years of the service teaching in the Baptist College at Iwo, Nigeria. Since 1949 they have both been engaged in evangelism at Igede, Nigeria.

New Officer Arrives Here

A new commanding officer of the Army Reserve Training Center arrived here today, the assignment being his first such command.

He is Lt. Col. F. L. Cawood of Atlanta, Ga., who has been on leave since returning last month from a tour of duty in Korea. Col. Cawood succeeds Lt. Col. Paul Fawcett, who retired several months ago.

A native of Winchester, Ky., the new commanding officer of the Reserve Center is a son of Dr. Samuel Cawood, Winchester dentist. A graduate of the University of Kentucky in 1938, he entered the armed forces as a first lieutenant during World War II.

He served with the 407th Infantry Regiment of the 102nd Infantry Division, seeing action in Holland and Germany. He came out of the service as a major.

Col. Cawood operated his own retail paint, wallpaper and glass business in Winchester before being recalled to duty during the Korean fighting.

His assignments in Korea included membership on the United Nations Military Armistice Commission, Support Group, and the Army's Seoul Area Command.

His wife, 15-year-old son and two-year-old daughter will continue to reside in Atlanta until Col. Cawood locates quarters here.

Celanese Names Personnel Head

James E. McCulloch has been appointed director of personnel administration of Celanese Corporation of America with offices in New York.

For nearly a year previously, he had been manager of personnel and organizational planning for the sales division, Lincoln and Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co., in Detroit. He joined the Ford company there in 1947, serving initially for three years as a professional recruiter on the company's central personnel staff and for five years subsequently in New York as manager of personnel of Ford International Division.

For one year prior to his most recent assignment, McCulloch had served as assistant to the managing director of Ford of Germany, in Cologne, Germany, with responsibility for organizing an industrial relations program in that country.

Musicians To Meet

A meeting of Local 787, American Federation of Musicians, will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at the Labor Temple on South Liberty Street, according to Jimmy Andrews, union secretary.

PLAN BENEFIT DANCE—Plans for the fifth annual benefit Christmas dance of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce were completed at a meeting of the Jaycee social committee and representatives of the Jaycees, Tuesday at Cas Taylor's Restaurant. Proceeds from the affair are used to help underprivileged children at Christmas. This year's dance will be held Friday, December 6, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and tickets may be purchased from any member of the sponsoring organization. Planning the affair, left to right, were Mrs. Edward Eyer, Brooke Fradiska, Mrs. William T. Russell Jr., Robert Mathews, Jaycee president; Casper R. Taylor Jr., chairman, Mrs. Edward F. Mullan Jr., and Robert R. Esler.

Gas Company Asks Rate Increase In Two States

return, the balance of the request would go for state and federal income taxes, Robbins said.

Examples Cited

Under present rates, a "typical" West Virginia customer using 5,000 cubic feet of gas a month for cooking, water heating and clothes drying or refrigeration now pays $4.35 a month. This will be $6.17 a month under the new rates.

A heating customer in West Virginia who uses the same 5,000 cubic feet of gas a month for cooking and water heating and another 180,000 cubic feet a year for heating now pays $123.82 a year for gas heat. Under the proposed rates, this heating cost would increase to $161.40.

Robbins said that while the C. & A. was technically permitted to earn a 6 1/4% rate of return on its West Virginia operations under the rates allowed the company by PSC on December 6, 1955, it is operating at a loss of $332,500 of the proposed West Virginia increase would be kept by C. & A. as income for

Mrs. Milton M. Crump
LUKE — Mrs. Anna Crump, wife of Milton M. Crump, died last night at her home, 199 Pratt Street, following an illness of five weeks.

Born in Baltimore, a daughter of the late Daniel F. and Mary Ann (Carey) Laughlin, she had resided here 55 years. Mrs. Crump was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, West-ernport, the Sodality of the parish and Court Santa Maria 485, Catholic Daughters of America.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three brothers, John L. Laughlin, Harrison City, Pa.; Andrew Laughlin, Cleveland, and Charles D. Laughlin, Luke.

The body is at the residence where the rosary will be recited tomorrow evening. A requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Peter's Church and interment will be in the parish cemetery.

Thomas A. Hendrickson
Thomas Alva Hendrickson, 88, of 119 South Allegany Street, died yesterday afternoon at his residence following an illness of several years.

He was born at Hazen, Md., and was the son of the late Peter and Mary (Drake) Hendrickson. His wife, Amelia (Hardinger) Hendrickson, preceded him in death.

Mr. Hendrickson was a member of the Methodist Church and at one time was an engineer for the B&O Railroad. He entered in the contracting business in Youngstown, Ohio, and returned here in 1938 after retiring.

He is survived by two daughters, Miss Avalon Hendrickson, Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. Ivis-erick, G. Kellander, city; two sons, Youngstown; a sister, Mrs. Lottie Robinson, Ohio, and a grandchild.

The body is at the George Funeral Home.

Services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at the funeral home by Rev. Carlton M. Harris, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church. Interment will be in Union Grove Cemetery.

Rice Services
FROSTBURG — Services for Howard C. Rice, 73, of Midlothian, who died yesterday in Miners Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the Durst Funeral Home.

Rev. James L. Tate, pastor of Midlothian Assembly of God Church, will officiate and interment will be in Mt. Zion Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Howard and Harvey Skidmore, Henry Smith, George Walker, Matthew Willets and Alfred Drew.

Lewis Services
Services for Lt. Col. and Mrs. John C. Lewis, who were killed Tuesday in a train-car accident in Shreveport, La., will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Alexandria, Va.

Lt. Col. Lewis was a native of Mt. Savage and a former resident of Frostburg.

Elwood E. Lease
Elwood Erwin Lease, 48, died yesterday at his home in Cresap-town, after an illness of one year.

He was born at Rawlings, and was a son of Katherine (Dawson) Lease and the late Edward Lease. Mr. Lease was an operator for the Western Maryland Railway.

Also surviving besides his mother, are his widow, Bertha (Rudolph) Lease; a daughter, Mrs. Marlene Zaharchak, Providence, N. J.; two step-daughters, Mrs. William Lafferty, this city, and Miss Victoria E. Lease, at home; three brothers, Ira, Piedmont, W. Va.; Pvt. Hayden Lease, with the U.S. Army in Germany, and Lawrence Lease, this city; three sisters, Mrs. Patience Harmon, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Regina Harrison, Westernport, and Mrs. Helena Burger, Akron, Ohio; a grandchild and three step-grandchildren.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. John Lindeman
SALISBURY, Pa. — Mrs. Mary Alice Lindeman, 53, wife of John E. Lindeman, Salisbury, died Tuesday evening at Meyersdale Community Hospital where she had been a patient three weeks.

Born at Boynton, she was the daughter of George G. and Annie C. (Reckner) Lindeman, of here. Mrs. Lindeman was a member of Salisbury Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Also surviving besides her parents and husband, are four brothers, Ernest G. Meyersdale; Albert and Bernard, both of here; and Harvey G. Bowman, Harrisburg, and four sisters, Mrs. Lottie Fritz, Garrett; Mrs. Carrie R. Thomas and Mrs. Myrtle M. Pearson, both of here, and Mrs. Frances Wrona, Hershey.

The body is at the home of her parents, where services will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. Paul Westcoat, pastor of Salisbury Evangelical and Reformed Church. Burial will be in IOOF Cemetery.

Mrs. Inez Allen
ELKINS, W. Va. — Mrs. Inez Allen, 68, died last November 12 at her home here.

Born at Old Fields, she was a daughter of the late Samuel and Amanda (Arbuckle) McNeill and the widow of Russell H. Allen.

She was a graduate of Shepherd College and held a master's degree from Davis and Elkins College. Mrs. Allen taught school for many years in Elkins.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Earl Cooper, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Miss Elizabeth Allen, Silver Spring, Md.; two sisters, Mrs. R. S. Kuykendall, Moorefield, and Mrs. John Inskeep, Unionville, Md.; a brother, Frank McNeill, Piedmont, and six grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary Killander
Mrs. Mary C. Killander, 76, Narrows Park, died yesterday at Sacred Heart Hospital.

Mrs. Killander was born at Patterson Creek, W. Va., a daughter of the late Charles and Clara M. (Duvall) Schoenadel. Her husband, Edward Killander, died last month.

She was a member of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church and a member of the Christian Mothers.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Helen L. Isner, Frederick Street, city, and Mrs. Clara Myers, Baltimore, a son, Fred-erick G. Kellander, city; two brothers, Frederick Schoenadel, St. Louis, Mo., and Peter Schoenadel, St. Petersburg, Fla.; five grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

The Christian Mothers of St. Peter and Paul Church will recite the rosary at the funeral home tomorrow at 8 p. m.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a. m. in St. Peter and Paul Church. Interment will be in the parish cemetery.

Webster Long
Webster Bruce Long, 85, died yesterday at his home in LaVale following a prolonged illness.

He was a son of the late Daniel R. and Delilah (Koonz) Long.

Mr. Long had lived his entire life in the same neighborhood in LaVale, and is believed to have lived longer there than anyone still living.

He and his wife, Jessie (Leonard) Long celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary on June 2 of this year.

He was a retired farmer and in 1895 purchased the farm land that extended from Allegany Grove down National Highway one and a half miles which is known today as LaVale.

The body is at the residence where services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. by Rev. W. W. Patterson, pastor of LaVale Methodist Church. Burial will be in Rose Hill Mausoleum.

The family requests that flowers be omitted.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Leonard R. Long, Hagerstown, and Webster B. Long Jr., LaVale; three daughters, Mrs. Marion Bryner and Mrs. Dorothy Cost, both of LaVale, and Mrs. Virginia Law, city; 13 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

John K. McCormick
MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — John Kennedy McCormick, former resident, died recently in Winchester, Mass.

Mr. McCormick came to Moorefield in 1919 and operated a lumber business. He was active in civic affairs and was worshipful master of Moorefield Lodge 29, AF&AM.

Official Declines To Seek Election

BALTIMORE — Dr. R. Walter Graham, Baltimore City controller, has announced he is through with politics and will not seek a second term next year.

"I have no desire to devote the rest of my life to public service," Dr. Graham said yesterday.

Graham refused comment when asked if his frequent disagreements with Mayor Thomas D'Alesandero and the city administration had anything to do with his decision to get out of politics.

Pumpkin Pie Has Orange Tang
An orangy pumpkin pie is a dessert that's certain to please. Line a 9-inch pie pan with rolled pastry. Trim and flute edge. Make filling by combining 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg and 1 1/4 cups cooked pumpkin. Combine 2 tablespoons orange juice, 2 beaten eggs, 1 1/4 cups hot milk, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Add to pumpkin mixture, mixing well. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to 350 degrees Fahrenheit and continue baking 40 minutes.

Old English Steamed Pudding
Mr. "John Bull" must be given credit for creating the greatest of all puddings—the plum pudding. In the early days, it was made of fresh plums, butter, rice and barley. Whole grains were used to inspire a good harvest the coming year.

Apple Crispie
Ingredients: 1/2 cup sifted flour, 1 cup sugar, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 cups thinly sliced pared apples, 1/4 cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 teaspoon salt.
Method: Mix flour, sugar and butter together with pastry blender or fingers until crumbly. Turn apples into a shallow baking dish—6 by 10 by 1 1/4 inches. Mix water, vanilla and salt together; sprinkle over apples. Sprinkle crumb mixture over apples evenly. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until apples are tender and topping is browned—about 40 minutes. Serve warm as is or with plain or whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Pork And Apples
Pork and apples are a perfect duet, especially during the late fall and early winter. One top flight recipe calls for pork shoulder steaks and glazed apple rings. The pork steaks are simmered slowly for about 45 minutes.

Pork Variety
For a variance in preparing a meal, a smoked shoulder butt is an excellent cut. It's a cured pork cut which may be cooked in liquid or sliced and broiled, pan-broiled or panfried.
Leftover syrup (from canned fruit) is delicious served over sliced fresh pears. Add a little grated lemon rind to perk up flavor.

Sandwich Filling
A nutritious filling to store in a covered container in your refrigerator to ripen for two or three days is made from a cup of raisins, pitted prunes or apricots ground fine. Add a half cup of chopped pecans or walnuts and a half cup of lemon juice. It will keep two or three weeks in the refrigerator.

2 cups water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 cup uncooked white rice
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 cup beet or cane sugar
1 cup water
1/2 cup real New Orleans molasses
2 eggs, beaten
-1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1/4 cup coarsely chopped pecans (about 1/4 pound)
1/2 cup dried currants
1/2 cup finely cut pitted dates

Method: Put the 2 cups water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on about 20 minutes. Mix together the cornstarch and sugar. Sprinkle through the warm rice. Stir in the 1 cup water, molasses, eggs, cinnamon, cloves, lemon rind, melted butter or margarine, pecans, currants and dates. Mix well.

Thoroughly grease, then sprinkle with flour, a 6 cup pudding mold or heat resistant mixing bowl. Pour in the pudding mixture. Cover tightly with a lid; several layers of aluminum foil or about five layers of waxed paper tied securely around the sides of the mold.

Place on a trivet or rack in a deep kettle. Pour in boiling water to half the depth of the mold. Cover the kettle. Steam 2 hours. Keep the water boiling. Add boiling water during the steaming if necessary.

Remove from the kettle. Allow to stand several minutes. Unmold and serve hot. If made ahead, unmold. Cool. Wrap and refrigerate. To serve, replace in greased mold and steam about 1 hour. Unmold and serve warm, with hard sauce, lemon sauce, whipped cream or vanilla ice cream. Garnish the steamed pudding with sugar-frosted grapes.

This recipe makes 10 to 12 servings.

Fruit Cookies Good And Colorful

Make these with your own walnuts. Mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet and bake in a 350° Fahrenheit oven for 10 minutes or till golden brown.

Popovers 'Lazy'? Here Are Reasons

"Lazy" popovers that don't budge in their tins are an insult to the cook. Their laziness may be attributed to one of two factors—a slow oven or too little fat. Sift 2 cups presifted all-purpose flour with a teaspoon of baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add to creamed mixture and mix till well blended. Fold in a cup of mixed, chopped candied fruit and peel, plus 1/4 cup finely chopped vanilla.

Oranges Accompany Roast Pork, Fowl

Try these as an accompaniment to roast pork or fowl. Wash 6 whole oranges and cover with water in a large utensil; boil gently until orange skin is tender and can be pierced with a toothpick; cool. Cut slice off blossom end of each orange and remove core; put into each orange 1 teaspoon butter and 1 tablespoon sugar and bake in a closely covered baking dish, filled 3/4 full of water, for about 1 1/2 hours in a moderate oven.

Thanksgiving Elegance: Demitasse And Marron Parfaits

Dessert for Thanksgiving Dinner should be beautiful, bounteous and delicious. If it also requires only the simplest last-minute assembling and no real preparation at all, then it is a prize indeed. Parfait Marron is handsome enough to star at the most festive holiday dinner, yet it may be "made" just before the dessert course—is brought in with the coffee.

The French word for "chestnut" is "marron." Parfait Marron is made with ice cream and marrons in syrup which are sold in jars by almost all grocery specialty shops. You'll want to cut the whole marrons into smaller pieces. Then, for a tasteful topping, make up a small bowlful of coffee whipped cream. With plenty of ice cream in the refrigerator, you are ready to assemble an unusual and luscious dessert creation, quite fitting and proper for the Thanksgiving feast.

Turkeys Take Spotlight With Thanksgiving Near

By The Associated Press Thanksgiving Day is still a week off but the turkey which symbolizes the holiday already has taken over the supermarket spotlight. Many stores are featuring the bird at prices that will hold through next Wednesday. Record 1957 production of around 81 million birds makes it possible for most housewives to get their best bargains in years. This year's production was up 5 per cent over 1956 and frozen stocks on Sept. 30 were up 53 per cent over last year.

Although prices naturally vary for comparative purposes it might be noted that one major chain was offering 10 to 16 pound hen turkeys at 41 cents a pound, oven-ready, and 18 to 24 pound tom turkeys at 37 cents a pound, oven ready, in the New York metropolitan area. Higher prices for some other meats also acted as a lever on shoppers to buy turkeys. Frying chickens were 2 to 6 cents a pound higher in many sections, while pork chops were up in the same range in a smaller number of places. Eggs are higher again, but only by a cent or two.

Housewives will be glad to learn lettuce is down, rating as a very good buy. Market men report, that it shows a wide range of quality and condition and bears careful inspection before buying. Other outstanding vegetable buys are endive, escarole, egg plant and radishes. In the good buy column are cucumbers, peppers and such vegetables from nearby fields as cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, potatoes and onions. Tomatoes are somewhat higher, putting them in the moderate buy class.

Apples Still Plentiful Apples, pears, oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and grapes are low priced and plentiful. Mixed nuts such as filberts, almonds and walnuts, also are available in good supply from Western growing areas. Apples are still an especially outstanding buy, with the Washington crop vying for attention with those from Eastern states which have been available in recent weeks. Anjou and Bosc pears, Emperor grapes and steadily increasing supplies of citrus fruits also are outstanding buys.

Family Supper

What are scallops without tartar sauce? Fried Scallops Tartar Sauce Baked Potatoes Green Peas Salad Boston Cream Pie Beverage

Tartar Sauce Ingredients: 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons minced onion, 2 teaspoons drained capers (minced), 2 teaspoons minced sweet pickle, 2 teaspoons minced green pepper, 2 teaspoons minced parsley. Method: Mix together the mayonnaise, onion, capers, pickle, green pepper and parsley. Chill half an hour or so (to blend flavors) before serving in tiny paper cups.

Sausage Supper For Four

Looks attractive, tastes good! Sausage and Acorn Squash Spinach Baked Tomatoes Salad Bowl Hot Biscuits Lemon Tarts Beverage Sausage and Acorn Squash Ingredients: 2 medium-sized acorn squash, 1/4 pound bulk sausage meat, 1 egg, 1 can (3 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms, 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, 1/4 cup finely diced celery. Method: Cut squash in two lengthwise. Cut thin slice from bottom of each squash half so vegetable will stand evenly in baking pan. Place squash, hollow side down, in greased shallow baking pan. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 45 minutes. Meanwhile cook sausage over moderate heat in small skillet until lightly browned and crumbly—about 15 minutes. Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; mix with mushrooms (including liquid in can), bread crumbs, salt, a dash of pepper and cooked sausage in a bowl. Stuffing: Remove squash from oven and turn hollow side up; fill with stuffing. Return to oven; bake, uncovered, until squash is tender and lightly browned—about 30 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings. Rosemary is a fine seasoning to use when cooking veal.

Pumpkin Pie Made With Squash

LAFAYETTE, Ind. — (INS) — The best pumpkin pies aren't made out of pumpkin at all—they are made from squash.

Or so say the garden experts at Indiana's big agricultural school—Purdue University.

To those who wonder about the difference, the experts offer this rule: A true squash has a rounded stem and a protruding blossom end. A pumpkin may have one or the other, but never both.

Variety names are a help, too, if the homemakers are buying her pumpkins and squash at the farm level, and not already cooked and canned.

Hubbard, Buttercup, Delicious, Banana, Mammoth and Chili all are squashes.

Table Queen, Acorn, Butternut, Cushaw, Cocozelli, Zucchini and Yellow Straight or Crook Neck, are pumpkins, even though they more often are called squash.

It's all very confusing and even state fair and show exhibitors who should know, often identify squash as pumpkin and pumpkin as squash.

Don't Fry French Toast, Try Broiling

The next time you make French toast try broiling instead of frying. It goes faster because you can make nine slices at a time.

Served with a warm sundae sauce, French toast may come to the dinner table as an inexpensive, tasty dessert.

Wonderful sandwich filling: pimiento-stuffed green olives and walnuts put through the fine blade of the meat chopper and mixed with cream cheese and a little mayonnaise. Try this on white or brown bread.

Salad Adds To Leftover Turkey

ATTRACTIVE LEFTOVER: A fruit salad, with avocados, orange sections and seedless grapes, is a delicious prop for the remains of that Thanksgiving turkey.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the pleasantest ways to serve sliced leftover turkey is to accompany it with a fruit salad and a hot bread.

A popular salad, and one that tastes delicious with cold turkey, is made from avocado, orange sections and seedless grapes. The salad dressing recipe is

Mouth-Melting Fudge Cake

Here is a chocolate fudge cake that will melt in your mouth.

Melt 3 ounces of unsweetened chocolate in a double boiler. Cream together lightly 2 cups of sugar, and ¼ teaspoon salt with ½ cup butter. Add melted chocolate; 5 eggs—one at a time beating well until all the eggs are added. Stir 1 teaspoon baking soda and 1 teaspoon vanilla into 1 cup sour milk (or ½ cup sour cream and ½ cup sour milk).

Using 2½ cups cake flour—previously sifted, then measured—add alternately flour and milk to sugar-egg mixture, beating at moderate speed. Bake in 10x14-inch pan or its equivalent in a 250 degree F. oven for 15 minutes, then increase temperature to 375 degrees and bake 25 minutes longer.

CHOCOLATE ICING: Melt 1 ounce unsweetened chocolate in double boiler. Add 3 tablespoons butter to the chocolate and stir in 1 cup powdered sugar, which has been sifted. Stir in well. Add 3 tablespoons black coffee to the above, and stir in with ½ teaspoon vanilla. Spread on cooled cake.

Make Fragrant Pomanders

To make fragrant pomander balls for Christmas select thin-skinned California oranges or lemons. If you prefer, you can make your own scents from different spice combinations. The usual are: oranges or lemons, powdered orris root, whole cloves, ground cinnamon.

Select clean firm fruit. Prick holes in fruit with an awl or ice pick, being careful to stagger them to prevent the skin from splitting. Stick whole cloves into each hole until the fruit is covered with cloves. Roll the clove-stuck fruit in a mixture of equal parts of orris root and ground cinnamon. Pat in as much of the powdered mixture as will adhere to the fruit. Wrap the pomander in tissue paper or other soft paper for several weeks to await Christmas. Remove the paper, shake off any loose powder and the fragrant pomander is ready for use in drawers or on linen shelves.

To hang in a closet tie the pomander with piece of ribbon, ending in a loop. Pomanders will keep their fragrance for many years and make pretty and inexpensive gifts, or will be a token of appreciation to a hostess.

Plum Pudding

We think of plum pudding as a rich holiday-type dessert but there can be a light version of plum pudding—simply add fresh plums to your favorite tapioca pudding recipe.

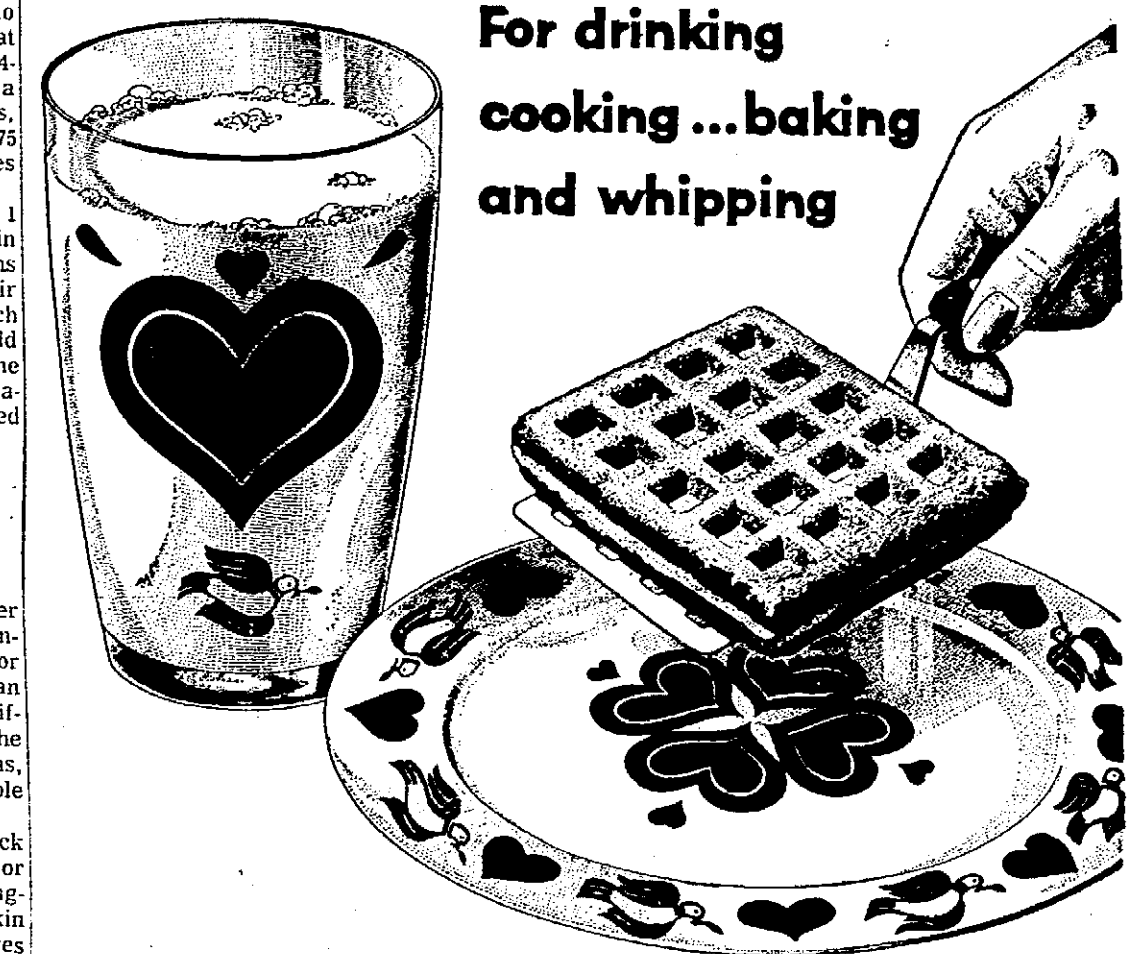

Coffee-Cake Loaf

If you want your coffee-cake loaf (made with yeast) to have a crisp crust, try brushing it with slightly-beaten egg white about 10 minutes before it has finished baking.

Chicken Basting

Baste chicken while it's baking with a mixture of butter or margarine, crushed garlic and Worcestershire sauce. Then make a gravy with chicken stock prepared from the giblets.

Sausage Cornettes

Bulk pork sausage becomes a festive standout when made into these Sausage Cornettes. Combine 1½ pounds bulk pork sausage with one 14-ounce can crushed pineapple which has been drained. Shape the meat and pineapple mixture into 8 patties. Dip patties into 1 beaten egg then roll in ¾ cup crushed corn flakes. Brown patties in 1 teaspoon melted lard. Cook, turning occasionally, until done, about 45 minutes.

Harry J. Barton is known in horse-racing circles as a man with determination and ability to restore Cumberland's track to the lofty position it once held among the state's half-mileers.

The other evening at the annual frolic of the Maryland Racing Writers in Baltimore nearly everyone who talked with Barton at the Lord Baltimore Hotel asked him about the hunting season. Some even asked if they could come here to hunt with him.

Among the latter was J. Fred Colwill, who has been serving as racing secretary at Fairgo's meet for the past half-dozen or more years. H. J., of course, is always glad to have companions on a hunting trip, but those who accompany him better be prepared to travel long and far by foot.

Ironically, he missed last year's racing dinner because of a hunting accident in West Virginia. Slipping on some rocks, Barton became wedged and sustained several cracked ribs. He was hunting alone at the time.

The Fairgo general manager occasionally makes trips to Canada in quest of big game, but not even the large bears he brought down in the wilds of that country have satisfied him. In fact, they merely whetted his appetite for more big-game thrills.

"Before I die, there are two places I want to hunt," Barton says. He thinks maybe the huge Alaskan bear would offer more of a challenge than the ones he bagged in Canada. He also hopes to journey into the jungles of Africa to test his skill as an elephant hunter.

A former member of the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, Barton hardly misses a day in the woods during deer season and averages about twice a week during the small-game term.

Getting back to racing, a feature of Tuesday's dinner was the announcement by the writers voting Verter, three-year-old colt, as the best home-bred thoroughbred of the year. Verter has been invited to race in the $50,000 Pimlico Special on November 30.

Owner Frank A. Piarulli of Merchantville, N. J., who sat at a table next to the Cumberland party, said at the dinner that he is taking the invitation under consideration. The colt was bred at Ellicott City.

Death Claims 'Refs'

Death recently claimed two men well known in Cumberland area sports circles years ago.

They were Gene Roman, 62, nationally-known boxing referee, and Morris Touchstone, 60, lacrosse coach at the Military Academy.

Roman, who was employed on the Western Maryland Railway as a fireman during his younger days, boxed as a middleweight at old Miller's Hall on North Centre Street, opposite City Hall. He also made his debut here as a referee about 40 years ago.

Gene died in Paterson, N. J., where he was owner of a wholesale grocery business. A native of Baltimore, Touchstone officiated about 30 years ago in soccer and basketball games played in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League. That was during the time when the Playground Athletic League, of which Morris was a staff member, assigned officials here.

Gene Roman had only a brief career as a boxer, appearing in about 30 pro bouts, but he estimated that he officiated in approximately 1,000 bouts. In 1931, Collyer's Eye rated him as the third best boxing referee in the country. Gene had the distinction of officiating in five championship bouts within six months.

During World War I when Roman was a sergeant in a machine-gun company overseas, he and seven other Americans toured France staging exhibitions. In one of his bouts he boxed Gene Tunney, later to become the world's heavyweight champ.

Every year about this time, Gene used to come to Cumberland to spend his vacation. And he hardly ever missed stopping at Berkeley Springs for one of that town's famed mineral baths.

Touchstone was regarded as one of the best lacrosse tutors in the nation. He coached at Yale before going to West Point, spending about 30 years in the profession.

His teams won a total of 214 games while losing only 73 and tying eight. He had only one losing season and in 1945 he led Army to a national championship.

postponed earlier this month because of flu at Frederick, will be 8 o'clock.

The Campers are on a three-game losing streak while Cadets have clipped off four straight triumphs and show an overall mark of 5-3 for the fall. Allegany has won three and lost five for eight outings.

Stretch String To Nine
The game, as was Fort Hill's yesterday, will be the last one for Allegany until next Thursday's Thanksgiving Day meeting of the local public school rivals. The shelling given the Hubs by the Red Raiders stretched their undefeated streak to nine and made it ten wins in a row since Alcy was beaten, 20-0, last Turkey Day.

The Campers' last victory was against South Hagerstown on October 12 when they routed the Rebels, 32-0. Since then they have absorbed losses at the hands of LaSalle, 19-6; Westminster, 39-0; and Martinsburg, 13-7.

Frederick, losing three of its first four starts, has rebounded with triumphs over Wheaton, 18-6; South Hagerstown, 26-0; Martinsburg, 27-6; and North Hagerstown, 13-0. Also beat the Hubs, 6-0, while also winning over Beall, 30-0, in the opener.

The contest is also a Cumberland Valley Athletic League game with both the Cadets and Campers out of the running. The Sentinels clinched a tie for the crown with yesterday's rout of North Hill and can take it all by trimming Allegany next week.

Westminster is still in the picture with five wins and one setback.

The Owls will play off their postponed game with Handley High tonight at Winchester, Va. A loss gives Fort Hill the title, the Sentinels, who tied with Hagerstown for the crown last year, having a 6-0 log now.

Tonight's game between Alcy and Frederick is only the second in their history with the locals bagging a 12-0 triumph last fall in the initial clash.

As for yesterday's foot race at the stadium, coach Bill Hahn of the Sentinels would probably prefer to play all his games in the afternoon. Mel Henry, coach of the Hubs, would probably just as well forget it all and is undoubtedly happy to be able to concentrate on the coming basketball season. The loss was the ninth in ten starts for North and marks the first time Henry has ever had a winless team. It was also the first season since the 1943-44 years that a Hub City club has ever been without a triumph.

Top Point Total
In scoring nine touchdowns, as many extra points by Doug Metz and a pair of safeties the Sentinels rolled up the most points ever by a Hahn-coached team. The previous high had been in the Sentinel mentor's first year (1942) at the South End school when Franklin was routed, 62-0.

In the Franklin romp, halfback Robert "Skinny" Martin raced for a record six touchdowns, and all more than 40 yards. Yesterday seven different players had a hand in the scoring parade with Dalton Hillegas and Thurl Roy accounting for two apiece.

Metz also set a stadium record and closed in on the mark for placements in a single season as he connected on all nine tries. It gives the extra-point specialist 35 in 45 attempts and 13 of his last 15. The city mark was set in 1949 by Don Decker of the Red Raiders when he had 39 crosses over the bars. Decker had Army to a national championship.

THEY'RE ON 'TACKS' SIDE NOW—Seven of the ten football coaches whose teams were beaten by Keyser High's Golden Tornado during the season give coach Fred (Tack) Clark their moral support in Saturday's big game. Undefeated during the regular campaign and boasting a string of 26 victories, Keyser attempts to nail down its second straight West Virginia Class A

West Virginia Backs Please 'Pappy' Lewis

By The Associated Press
Much of West Virginia's success in football this year has been due to Coach Art Lewis' good fortune in finding depth in the backfield to match the acknowledged depth of the Mountaineer line. Lewis started the season with a forward wall that was, in his own words, "the best I've ever had at Morgantown." The line was three deep in capable reserves. The big question was whether "Pappy" would be able to discover backs—halfbacks in particular—to operate behind this formidable array up front.

Better Than Expected
At this juncture of the season, Lewis is ready to admit that by and large the performance of his backs has been "better than I had any right to expect." But he adds cautiously: "They'll all have to run like the dickens if we're going to beat Syracuse on Saturday."

The Mountaineers don't have a back who's anywhere near the top of the ladder in rushing in the Southern Conference. What they do have is a number of backs, each of whom has gained considerable yardage.

For instance, there are five West Virginia halfbacks who have gained more than 200 yards apiece—Ray Peterson (338), Ralph Anastasio (300), Whitey Mikani (265), Bill McClure (236) and Dave Rider (216). Fullback Larry Krutko has gained 320 yards and his reserve, Glenn Shamblin, has added 174. In the case of the halfbacks, Lewis has been juggling his starting lineup almost weekly without success in finding out who's best.

Gain 683 Yards Passing
West Virginia isn't much of a passing team but the statistics indicate the Mountaineers possess two of the more efficient operatives in the conference in this department. Mickey Trimarki, the No. 1 quarterback, had a 55 percent completion average (22 for 40), which if maintained will be a Mountaineer record. No. 2 quarterback Dick Longfellow, a hero three times this season in West Virginia victories, has completed 32 of 72 pitches. All told, West Virginia has gained 683 yards via passing.

Trimarki won this week's starting nod from Lewis yesterday along with Krutko, Anastasio and McClure in the ever-changing Mountaineer backfield. The Mountaineers wound up practice for the Syracuse game with no-contact drills on pass offense, pass defense and passer-protection.

Signal drills and a brushing-up on defense against Virginia Tech plays were on the program at VMI. The Techmen held a light workout.

Richmond worked on punt returns. William & Mary emphasized pass protection and blocking, then had a session against the freshmen in practice for the game with Richmond next week.

Howley Still Held As No. 1 Candidate For All-America

RICHMOND, Va. — (AP) — West Virginia guard Chuck Howley still is Southern Conference football's No. 1 candidate for All-America honors, in the considered opinion of the conference nominating board.

Even the fact he has been out of action for nearly a month because of an injury has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the five board members for the mobile 220-pound Mountaineer lineman.

More and more, however, Howley is having to share the plaudits of the nominators with the "Mr. Versatility" of unbeaten Virginia Military Institute's backfield — halfback Bobby Jordan.

When the nominating board was asked on Oct. 27 to name the league's five top candidates for All-America, Jordan was No. 4 on the list. In this week's rankings, he advanced to No. 2 — right behind Howley.

Sommer Slowed
George Washington halfback Mike Sommer, the No. 2 player last month but handicapped since then by a leg injury that slowed him down in his final four games, this week was ranked No. 3.

Rounding out the list of "top five" conference players are William & Mary's fast-rising end, Larry Pecatiello, and The Citadel's record-setting quarterback, Bobby Schwarze.

Neither Pecatiello, No. 4 in this week's rankings, nor Schwarze, No. 5, was in the "top five" in October. They replace end Paul Maguire of The Citadel, out for the season with a leg injury, and tackle Elliott Schaubach of William & Mary, whose play also has been hampered by injuries.

Howley's pre-eminence in the All-America nominations isn't surprising despite the face injury that kept him idle since late October. Scouts regard the fast-moving West Virginia guard as an excellent prospect for professional football. He excels on offense, is a terror on defense while backing up the Mountaineer line, and can punt, kick off and placekick.

Best Furler Has Seen
"Howley is definitely the best football player I have seen on any team this year," said board member Mickey Furler of the Morgantown, W. Va., Dominion News.

The nominating board this week cited eight players for exceptional performances in last Saturday's games. One of the eight, end Craig Wall of Davidson, was put on the All-America check list for the first time. Wall snagged seven passes, three for touchdowns, as Davidson beat Richmond 23-19.

Others nominated were Jordan and two VMI teammates — halfback Sam Horner and tackle Jim McFall — Virginia Tech end Carroll Dale, and two West Virginia backs, quarterback Dick Longfellow and halfback Ray Peterson. Each has been nominated at least once earlier in the season — Jordan four times.

Jewel's Reward Seen Early Choice In Pimlico Futurity

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Jewel's Reward was installed by the early oddsmakers today as a probable odds-on favorite to win Saturday's $162,740 Pimlico Futurity and, with it, horse racing's 1957 championship for 2-year-olds.

Wheatley Stable's Misty Flight, the other leading contender for entry box when it closes at 10 juvenile honors, and four others were regarded as likely starters. Each would swell the purse by in the race offering first prize of another $1,500 in entry fees. That's $115,347 — third highest in the sport.

In the early line Jewel's Reward was rated a 4-5 choice to carry Jockey Willie Shoemaker and the colors of Maine Chance Farm under the wire first in the mile-and-sixteenth run around Old Hilltop.

The kitty includes $20,240 from a $10 nominating fee paid three years ago by each of 2,024 owners, $21,700 from a $33 second fee paid by 620 of these, $37,400 from 374 still interested enough to chip in another $100 each, and $24,400 from 122 who though enough of their horses' chances to kick in $200 more apiece.

This made 103,740 already in the kitty before the track added $50,000 and $1,800 from the owner of each horse actually entered. The Futurity first prize is topped only by the $155,047 net of the Garden State Stakes and the $120,875 of the Delaware Handicap.

Satterfield Fights Howard King Tonight

Satterfield, 34, has 12 one-round knockouts to his credit since he started fighting professionally in 1945. That's one more than Rocky Marciano or Joe Louis put in the surprise names' also to be in the record books.

Cadets Again Seen Flooring Strong Quint

Coach Homer Brooks, former Allegheny high star athlete back in the '30s, lost four of his regulars from the 1957 state Class A championship Frederick High basketball team but still has plenty of strength for the coming campaign.

The Cadets, who also won the Cumberland Valley Athletic League, defeated Montgomery Blair of Silver Spring, 58-51, for their first state championship last March, they lost four starters by graduation in Charlie Keller Jr., "Bucky" Summers, Bobby Moss and Bob Poole.

Don Keller Returns

However, with the return of starting guard Don Keller, brother of Charlie, Brooks has five cagers who have played together since their freshman season. Expected to brace the starting lineup with Keller will be Frank Martz, "Peck" Strine, Dave Markey and Dave Meadows. All five will be seniors this campaign.

At the first call, Brooks had 47 report with about 20 more expected from the football squad. With the large turnout the candidates will be divided into four teams, the varsity, which will meet CVAL quints and compete in state play, County varsity, junior varsity and County jayvees.

Open CVAL With Sentinels

The opening game for the Cadets, who won 22 and lost only to Martinsburg, 43-35, and South Hagerstown, 67-60, last season, will be against Musselman High on Friday, December 6. They meet 10 CVAL opponents with the first being Fort Hill on the Cadets' boards, Tuesday, December 10.

Frederick won the CVAL last campaign with five victories and one defeat—the loss to Martinsburg. This season, with the entrance of Allegheny and South Hagerstown, all quints in the circuit will play a 10-game card. The schedule and roster follow:

Giants Expecting To Double Gate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The transplanted Giants expect to double their attendance in their new California baseball quarters in 1958.

Ticket manager Pete Hoffman predicted today the attendance at the former Seals Stadium—23,000 capacity—would hit 1,350,000 by the time the ex-New Yorkers finish their first season here. This year's final season at the Polo Grounds—twice as large—drew 653,000, Hoffman said.

Although ticket prices are higher than they were in New York, Hoffman said orders are pouring in for the April 15 opener with the Los Angeles Dodgers, also transplanted this year. In fact, he said he could sell 100,000 tickets for that one.

Twenty-two of the season's first 25 games will be played at home for an extended San Francisco welcome, from the opener through May 11. The only break will be a three-game set at Los Angeles at the tag end of the season's first week.

Gavilan Given Unanimous Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Kid Gavilan is showing signs of rust but his fighting instinct still has plenty of polish.

The former welterweight champion, who at 31 wants to regain the title, craftily won a unanimous decision over Boston's Walt Byars last night in a 10-round televised nationally from Chicago Stadium.

Byars, 25, was in a purple rage in the sixth round, complaining to Referee Frank Sikora that the Cuban Kid had struck a low blow. It looked for a minute as if Byars would tear into Gavilan in an angered frenzy.

This he did at the start of the seventh, and the Kid cooled him off with a change of tactics. He started left-jabbing him and the former Marine featherweight champion of the Korean campaign could not score effectively.

Jim Bakhtiar Considered As All-American

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Greene of Holy Cross and Lee Grosscup of Utah, statistically two of the leading ground-gainers in major college football, are among more than two dozen players under consideration for backfield positions on the 1957 All-America team.

The regional boards which scrutinized the nation's leading teams throughout the season today listed the possibilities.

With two games still left on the schedule for many of the leading teams, the lists submitted this week may undergo radical changes.

Both Good Passers

Greene and Grosscup, both 7-footers, have accounted for a total of 1,323 yards in eight games. Grosscup, 1,231 in nine.

Some superior all-around performers may beat them out for the All-America team.

Well-recommended backs in this category include John Crow, the Texas A&M bruiser who was listed on the All-America second team last season, Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State, Joe Francis of Oregon State and Bobby Jordan of Virginia Military Institute.

Quarterbacks King Hill of Rice and Bill Stacy of Mississippi State are also strong possibilities.

Bakhtiar Stands Out

Also listed as standouts in their areas were Virginia fullback Jim Bakhtiar, Bob Anderson of Army, Bob Stranksy of Colorado, Nick Piostrosante of Notre Dame and Bobby Mulgudo of Arizona State.

In the East, Navy passer Tom Forrestal and Princeton's John Sapoch, an exceptional blocking back, were pressing Greene for quarterback honors. Grosscup's Utah teammate, Merrill Douglas, also was well recommended.

Some others listed were Jimmy Taylor, Louisiana State; Ray Brown, Mississippi; Harvey White, Clemson; Dick Christy, North Carolina State; Wray Carlton, Duke; Bobby Schwarze, The Citadel; and Mike Sommer, George Washington.

Gerald Nesbitt, Arkansas fullback, was listed with Crow and Hill in the Southwest. Others were Ohio State's Don Clarke, Michigan's Jim Pace, Oklahoma's Clendon Thomas, Jimmy Jones of Washington, Jack Douglas of Stanford and Tom Flores of College of the Pacific.

Eyer New Prexy At Maplehurst

Walter Eyer was elected president of the Men's Golf Association of the Maplehurst Country Club at last night's fall dinner meeting at the club with approximately 70 attending the affair.

Carroll Boggs, Cumberland County Club golf pro, was speaker.

Other officers elected were Charles Miller, vice president; Henry Morrissey, treasurer and Wayne Myers, secretary.

Award winners for the spring tourney were Charles Pinto, championship flight; "Jake" Michaels, first flight; Bill Pritchard, second flight; Charles Harper, third flight; and Walter Anthony, fourth flight.

Fall champions were Charles Miller, championship flight; Tom Gracie, first flight; Bob Porter, second flight; Ed Premens, third flight; W. A. Stevenson, fourth flight; and Willard Harvey, fifth flight.

Ed Premens also won the first leg on the Via trophy, awarded to the winner of the summer handicap tournament. The trophy must be won three times for permanent possession.

Bench Warmer 'Top Lineman'

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A bench warmer, constantly plagued by recurring injuries, was the role that senior center Frank Kuchta emerged from to spearhead a stunning 7-0 Notre Dame upset of Oklahoma and win Associated Press Lineman of the Week honors.

"Sure, it was the best game I've ever played at Notre Dame," said the 6-3, 265-pound Kuchta after he was told of his selection.

"But there were six other guys in that forward wall. And as far as I'm concerned they could have picked all seven Notre Dame starting linemen for the honor."

For his terrific offensive and defensive play that shattered Oklahoma's 47-game winning skein, Kuchta gained the nod from the weekly AP poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

A pair of hard-hitting Notre Dame guards, James Schaaf and Al Eucyer, also drew praise for their work against the Sooners.

Kuchta, whose home is in Cleveland, said he was "tremendously excited" over his selection.

"Why, I haven't played a whole game or a major part of it for some time. I understand I played about 45 minutes in my first starting assignment all year last Saturday," he asserted.

Potomac State Joins New Tri-State Athletic Circuit

Potomac State College has joined with 11 other junior colleges as charter members in the formation of the Tri-State Athletic Conference following a meeting last Saturday in Hagerstown when the constitution was adopted.

Schools accepted into the organization are Baltimore City College, Wesley Junior College, of Dover, Del., Frederick, Catonsville, Hagerstown, St. Mary's, Essex, Montgomery, Tacoma Park, and Harford, all of Maryland, Shenandoah College, Dayton, Va., and Potomac State.

Eligibility rules of the conference will follow the rules set forth by the National Junior College Athletic Association, of which Potomac State is now a member. All of the member schools are expected to join the national association.

Potomac State is in District 13 of the NJCAA, which includes North and South Carolina. Potomac State athletic director Dana "Horse" Lough is petitioning the association in an effort to have Potomac State entered in District 10, which encompasses New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Shenandoah College will be re-located in Winchester, Va., in 1959, and is also requesting to be changed from District 15 to District 10.

Championships will be established in all sports in which member schools compete. It will be necessary to compete against a minimum of three other schools in order to become eligible for championships in the various sports.

Lough has scheduled Montgomery State to play Potomac State in the new circuit.

Tiger Fans Pleased

In the latest trade, the Tigers lost Bill Tuttle, Frank House, Duke Maas, Jim Small and John Tsitouris and two minor league players to be named later. They received Billy Martin, Gus Zernial, Maury McDermott, Lou Skizas, Tom Morgan and Tim Thompson.

People around Detroit feel the Tigers got the better of the deal. Tighe said, "We did real well."

The five Tigers named in the deal average 24½ years in age. The six players coming to Detroit have an average age of 29½.

The Tigers elected not to hesitate, hope and wait two or three years for players who might become front-line major leaguers.

Martin Demands Cash

McHale worked hard on the trade. It was in the talk stage for more than two months. He spent three days in Chicago last week with Arnold Johnson, A's president, and their general manager, Parke Carroll. McHale was in close contact with Tighe.

Martin, when informed of his trade, demanded a cash settlement from the Athletics and indicated he might hold out on the deal.

He said "I told Kansas City before this trade that I wanted a slice of my sale price if they traded me. Well I want it now or maybe I just won't go. I want a cash settlement and if I don't get it I'm just stubborn enough that I might sit tight. If I refuse to go maybe the deal will blow up."

Later however he said "There's only one way I'll go to Detroit and that's to help them win the pennant. Anyone would be overjoyed going to the Tigers."

Officials of both clubs, however, expressed little concern over Martin's demand.

Quiet Down

In Kansas City, George Selkirk, Kansas City's director of personnel, said he had talked with Martin a half an hour after the trade.

"I think he's quieted down now," Selkirk said. "He probably had made plans to stay here, but he knows better to do that in baseball."

As for Martin getting a cash settlement from the Athletics, Selkirk said "he's got no chance collecting from us. Besides he is Detroit property now and his argument is with the Tigers, not us."

McHale said he was not disturbed over Martin's demand and threatened holdout.

"I'm not disturbed. We're glad to get Martin and I'm sure he's glad to be with us. . . . Everything will be all right."

The baggage was in use among the ancient Greeks.

Dodgers List 35 Night Home Tests

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, still not sure just where they're going to play in 1958, have announced a 77-game home schedule that includes 35 night games and only 3 doubleheaders.

The expectation is that the transplanted Brooklyn team will play most—if not all—of its home games at spacious Memorial Coliseum. The big bowl holds more than 100,000 people, about four times as many as the alternate playing site, Wrigley Field.

The Dodgers said in announcing the schedule yesterday that a decision on the playing site, or sites, probably will be made in two weeks or less.

"The big factor," said business manager Harold Parrott, "is availability and adaptability of the Coliseum. Our engineers are studying the problem. That's all I can say now."

The Dodgers will open the National League season in San Francisco against the Giants April 15 and will play their first home game against the same team April 18.

Awards will be presented to members of the Outdoor Club softball team tomorrow, 8 p. m., at the clubrooms on Frederick Street. The Outdoorsmen won the Rocking Chair League championship for the past two years.

The Limpopo River, in Africa, often is called the "Crocodile River," because so many crocodiles live in it.

Fleegle Lone Regular Back For 'Savage'

"Speed will have to be our biggest asset," stated coach Johnny Thomas as he announced the 1957-58 basketball schedule for the Mt. Savage High Indians today.

"We have lost four good, big men from our starting team of last year and have only Wayne Fleegle returning. Missing will be George Bishields, Jim Harden, Jim Henckel and Roy Hott. We definitely will be in for a rebuilding."

Henckel was a six-foot, four-inch guard while Harden, six-foot, three-inches, held the pivot post for the Indians. Bishields, scrappy floor artist, was an All-WMI selection while Hott was honorable mention. Harden was on the second team.

The 1956-57 Indians finished with a season record of 13 wins and eight losses while winding up third in the WMI League and second in the County Class B. After losing a playoff to champion Valley of Piedmont, 74-57, for the title.

The Indians will open against Oldtown High on the latter's court Friday, December 6. The first home attraction is against Ridgeley, a new opponent, the following Thursday, December 12. In addition to the home-and-home tilts with the Blackhaws, the other new opposition will be furnished by Hancock.

The two new foes replace South Hagerstown and Somerset. The same 10 WMI games are listed, the first against Allegheny at home on Friday, January 3. A game is pending with the Alumnus, the tentative date being February 21. The schedule, with last year's scores in parentheses, and roster follow:

Army-Navy Fray Stays In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Army-Navy football game will be played in Philadelphia for at least another three years, Mayor Richardson Dilworth announced yesterday.

Mayor Dilworth said the city and the Army-Navy athletic associations renewed the contract for the game for three more years with an option for an additional three years.

"Both services expressed a high degree of satisfaction with the way the city has handled the game," he said.

"Army and Navy meet here Nov. 30 in a game which probably will determine the Eastern Collegiate Football Champion for 1957, and could mean a bowl bid for Navy if the Midgies win. Army has announced it is not interested in a bowl game. Navy would accept a post-season game if it defeat Army."

Ridgeley Club Will Feature 'New Faces'

Almost all new faces will be seen by Ridgeley High basketball rooters when the Blackhaws of coach Tom O'Connor launch the 1957-58 campaign against West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney on Tuesday, December 3, at home.

Only two cagers on the squad have had any previous experience with senior forward Dave Baker and junior center Bill Scott the only holdovers from the 1956-57 quint. Baker will be putting in his fourth season while Scott, who is six-foot, five-inches, was a starter last year.

Guards Gene Hornick and "Woody" Guthrie are the only other seniors on the squad that rounds out with nine juniors.

The Hawks, who had an overall mark of 12 wins and 11 losses while finishing as runnerup in the Section 16-B tournament, will play a 21-game slate, including a contest against the Alumnus.

For the first time in years LaSalle will be the only city opponent to face the Ridgeley five. Allegheny and Fort Hill have dropped the Hawks because of participation in the CVAL circuit this season.

The Explorers and Hawks have home-and-home dates while the only other non-PVC or Mineral County League foes are Beall and Mt. Savage—also listed for home-and-home contests—as the new opposition.

The Hawks shared the MCL crown with Piedmont and Keyser last year. The schedule and roster follow:

Hoople Blames Erring Wind For Blowing Correct Scores

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Wind Velocity Expert

EGAD! Many a perfect forecast is wrecked by one erring gust of wind carrying a point-after-touchdown kick a few inches wide of the mark! Great Caesar, yes!

You can take yesterday afternoon's game between Fort Hill and North Hagerstown as an example. We had predicted that one would wind up, 67-7. Again, we hadn't taken into consideration the ways of Mother Nature and her breezy manner. However, most of the wind was generated by the fleet Sentinel backs as they rushed in near record numbers over the Hubs' goal.

Pair Near Misses

Then, last week, most everyone scoffed when your humble correspondent said that Allegheny and LaSalle would both play 13-13 ties. But for a last-second goal line stand by Martinsburg in thwarting the Campers who were desperately trying to make my prediction stand up it would have been correct. And, but for Shade Central's knack for getting safeties against LaSalle, that might have been the score instead of the 16-13 final for the Pennsylvanians.

Lane Prepares To Talk To Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Lane, Cleveland's new general manager, will stop in Chicago Sunday on his trade-talk rounds and White Sox vice president Chuck Comiskey will welcome him.

"I'm not afraid of the old champ—I'm able and anxious to meet him," said Comiskey of Lane, who once was Sox general manager.

"If I don't know him no one in our league does. I sat on the same side of the table with him for six or seven years and know his routine. Maybe he'll be a little leery for teaching me too many of his tricks."

Other Close Games

This week several other close scores are in my forecast, Iowa or so I have read—and we might edge Notre Dame, 20-19, Wisconsin to slip by Minnesota, 14-13, and Oregon to defeat Oregon State by the same score. These games have been analyzed by one of the new doctors on my staff, the eminent Benvenuto Blaufunkoschnitzstein.

If you think Dr. Blaufunkoschnitzstein wrong, please keep it to yourself, because Dr. Blaufunkoschnitzstein not only is usually right, but Dr. Blaufunkoschnitzstein is very quick to take offense at mispronouncing his name.

Revivalists Disappoints In TV Show

Program In Need Of Better Understanding Of Experiences

By CHARLES MERCER
 NEW YORK (AP)—Last week it could be said that a searching examination of religious revivalism never had been attempted on television.
 This week, now that The Seven Lively Arts (CBS-TV) has presented "The Revivalists," it still can be said that a searching examination of revivalism never has been attempted on television.
 The program was a disappointment to anyone having faith in the future of The Seven Lively Arts as incisive, stimulating entertainment. "The Revivalists" stood in need of at least one and possibly two theologians to give viewers a better understanding of this particular form of religious experience.
 There were some excellent filmed portions of contemporary revivalists in action—all the way from the Holiness People to the Rev. Billy Graham, and back to the days of Billy Sunday and Aimee Semple McPherson. Special attention was focused on Graham, but one's knowledge of his work was not substantially increased.
 Narrator John Crosby and the creators of the program failed to raise probing questions about the nature of revivalism — and so, naturally, there were not thoughtful answers.
 A little history of the astonishing influence of revivalists in America since the 18th Century would have helped one better understand the movement as it is today.
 Is revivalism gaining or losing ground? Does it have lasting influence on the lives it affects or is it temporary emotionalism? Does it appeal to members of particular social groups or does it exercise a universal human appeal?
 Nearly every viewer interested in watching a TV program on revivalism has such questions or opinions in mind. The program did not attempt to answer them.
 American motor truck builders now produce more than 1,000,000 units per year, or about one-half the world's annual output.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our relatives, neighbors and friends who were so kind to us during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband and father, George D. Cline. We especially wish to thank those who sent flowers, cards and floral tributes and those who donated the use of their automobiles.

Mrs. George D. Cline & Family
We are taking this means to thank our friends and neighbors for the kind words extended to us during the illness and following the death of our father and brother, William D. Cline, who died November 19, 1957. We especially wish to thank Rev. Raymond M. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Piedmont, for his kind words and those who sent floral tributes and also the use of their automobiles.

His children: Mrs. Alida Collins, Mrs. Betty Nell, William Warrick, His sisters and brothers.

3-Mary Haworth's Mail
Editor's Note: Divorced man, 25, wants to marry divorcee, 45; their families against.
DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 25 and very much in love with Molly, who is 45. We are both divorced and I have known her for two years. She has two grown sons, one my age who was a good friend of mine—that's how I got to know Molly.
She is such good company that many times when a group is going dancing, her son insists on taking her along. And she keeps everybody laughing all evening with her great sense of humor. She dances well too.
At first I considered her just a wonderful friend and we candidly showed great mutual liking. Then things changed. So gradually that I hardly knew how it happened. I realized a strong physical attraction to her. I repressed the thought, not wishing to lose her friendship; and told myself that I was crazy.
Parted Once;
Now Meet Again
After several months I finally told her that I loved her, and wanted to marry her, and was overjoyed when she confessed that she loved me too. Well, when we told her sons, they both blew up; and my family thought it ridiculous, too. In the face of all this opposition we agreed to quit, and not see each other any more.
Lately we've been meeting again, but her sons don't know it. What can we do? Ignore their protests and marry anyway? Or abide by their opinions and go separate ways? I know we could be happy if people would accept our marriage with tolerance. On the other hand, we know that derisive remarks and a disapproving atmosphere aren't good for any marriage.
We don't want to feel ostracized by family and friends, as if we were a couple of silly fools. Thanks for any thoughts you may have in the matter.
Defective Sort Of Attraction
DEAR R. S.: This striking infatuation between you and Molly is a defective sort of attraction. And the majority opinion of family and friends is probably right, that it can't be processed into happy marriage.
As for what you mean to each other, I think the major element that fostered fervid romance is the fact that you two were social misfits in the particular group that brought you together.
Molly is falling far behind her appropriate bracket in going dancing with her son and the latter's friends, and keeping them laughing all evening with her high key humor. Just as you, too, are somewhat out of step with normalcy, in being already married and divorced at age 25, and back with the free wheeling younger crowd.
The past experience in common, of being divorced, was a sort of psychological link between you and Molly in that situation. It led to a sense of special intimacy, of sex attraction, since both of you were aware of being lonely and incomplete, in the midst of an adolescent social routine. This "outsider" feeling is part of the price of failure in marriage.
Age Leading Youth Astray?
Also it's safe to say that Molly was weeks or months ahead of you, in entertaining a hidden hunger for sweetheart intimacy, despite the generation's difference in ages. And very likely her hopes and feelings in this respect were communicated to you on the unconscious level—probably by design and intent—"so gradually," as you say, "that you hardly know how it happened."
As a divorced man, you hardly qualify as an injured innocent in stalemate. But the fact that you proposed marriage, whereas Molly has permitted an interim affair, suggests that she probably hasn't really wanted more than this. She probably realized from the first that marriage simply wouldn't work—but she has contributed to the illusion of seriously considering it, in order to save face with you, I think.
As I see the picture, your involvement with Molly stems from the same roots as your divorce. You are a confused self-indulgent character, taking paths of least resistance; and to get on the beam of worthwhile living, you need both psychiatric and religious guidance.—M. H.

Editor's Note: Divorced man, 25, wants to marry divorcee, 45; their families against.
DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 25 and very much in love with Molly, who is 45. We are both divorced and I have known her for two years. She has two grown sons, one my age who was a good friend of mine—that's how I got to know Molly.
She is such good company that many times when a group is going dancing, her son insists on taking her along. And she keeps everybody laughing all evening with her great sense of humor. She dances well too.
At first I considered her just a wonderful friend and we candidly showed great mutual liking. Then things changed. So gradually that I hardly knew how it happened. I realized a strong physical attraction to her. I repressed the thought, not wishing to lose her friendship; and told myself that I was crazy.

master of New England, calls it a double-barreled end play.

Frank found himself in four hearts after bidding clubs on the way up. West opened the king of clubs and shifted to the deuce of spades. The king forced Frank's ace and it was up to Frank to play the hand.

One way to play the hand would be to take his king of diamonds, enter dummy with the king of hearts, discard the ten of spades on the ace of diamonds and go after the clubs.

This play would have worked like a ten-cent watch. With trumps breaking four-two and both missing clubs in the West hand he would have wound up with a snappy eight tricks.

Frank was sure that the clubs would break badly. He did not believe that West would have led the king without the ace and the jack. He knew the odds were against an even split of the trumps and he saw a sure way to bring home his contract against any combination of cards.

All he did was draw trumps, cash his king of diamonds and lay down the ten of spades. It did not matter to him what happened thereafter. Either opponent could win the trick and lead anything or the man with the queen of spades could let the ten hold. There was no possible way to beat the hand any more.

Record Of Goods Held Important

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—(INS)—Colorado State University home economists suggest you keep a complete record of your household furniture and equipment.

The record should include how much each item cost and when it was bought.

Such a list can help determine the amount of insurance protection you should have, as well as a basis for claims in case of loss by fire, theft or storm.

If you bring the list up-to-date once a year, it can help you plan new purchases or replacements.

The record should be kept in a fire-safe place.

Tri-State Youth Rally Scheduled

Rev. Floyd Ankerberg, Chicago, will speak at a Tri-State Youth for Christ rally on Saturday at 7:45 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel.

Formerly a pastor in Chicago, Rev. Mr. Ankerberg entered into full-time evangelistic work with Youth For Christ in 1950. He is a member of the board of Youth For Christ International and vice-president of the Eastern States zone.

A feature at the rally will be a teen-age panel on "Dating." Members of the panel are Miss Peggy Smith, Meyersdale High School; Ginger Davis, David Trumbull and George Price, all of Allegheny High School.

The Tri-State Youth For Christ is also sponsoring a youth rally at Meyersdale Friday at 7:45 p. m. Rev. Mr. Ankerberg will address the rally which will be held in the Meyersdale Brethren Church.

Group To Air County Needs

Research needs for Allegany County will be discussed tomorrow afternoon when the Allegany Soil Conservation District Supervisors meet at 1:30 p. m. at the office of County Agent Joseph M. Steger at the Court House.

Floyd Buser is chairman of the supervisors. The State Soil Conservation Committee is seeking research ideas from the various counties.

Martin Gordon, acting work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, said water management, irrigation and drainage, soil and plant management as well as woodlands, are among the items to be discussed throughout the state.

Economic and social aspects of soil conservation, the cost and returns from conservation farming systems and practices, also come under discussion.

The supervisors turn their ideas over to the State Soil and Water Conservation Research Needs Committee which reports to district supervisors during the winter meeting held in January.

Interested groups include the Soil Conservation Districts, Agricultural Experiment Station, SCS technical personnel, and State Extension service.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Farm Values In State Rise While Income Keeps Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland farm real estate values are climbing while net income of farmers is dropping.

Department of Agriculture records show this widening gap for Maryland is greater than the national average.

William H. Scofield, a department land value specialist, said farm real estate values in Maryland climbed from an average of $155 an acre in 1922 to $202 this year.

This is an increase of about 30 per cent compared to a national average of 14 per cent for the same years.

Meanwhile, Maryland net farm income dropped about 16 per cent, or from $80,600,000 in 1952 to $67,400,000 in 1956.

The national average decrease for the same years was 15 per cent.

On an index basis, with the 1947-49 values as $100, the average value of Maryland farm land climbed from 121 in 1952 to 162 this year.

Scofield said the Maryland situation illustrates an old saying that the farmer is the only businessman who can lose money every year and die rich.

The increased values, he said, do strengthen farmers' credit, but otherwise have little effect on income.

Higher values also create a problem, he added, for young people to raise money enough to get started in farming.

The department, in a 1958 agricultural outlook, said average market values of farm real estate have advanced persistently in the last four years.

This is the longest period in 45 years of record in which such a rise has not been supported by a corresponding upward trend in farm income, the report said.

Suit Against Jai Alai Plan Filed In Court

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Backers of a jai alai arena with pari-mutuel betting have until Dec. 14 to show why their license should be revoked by Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

Judge Benjamin Michaelson has signed an order giving the backers 25 days to answer a suit filed by C. Bowie Rose, Glen Burnie attorney, on behalf of three taxpayers.

Rose filed two suits Monday as a result of a $100,000 license issued by the county commissioners last week to Auditoriums Inc., proponents of the jai alai plan.

Backed by a group including F. Joseph Donohue, Washington attorney who managed Sen. Estes Kefauver's 1956 campaign for president, the corporation is represented locally by its vice president, former State Sen. Wilbur R. Dulin.

The jai alai fronton, or arena, would be built near Fort Meade off the Baltimore-Washington Expressway.

The suits contend that the commissioners, in approving the license, failed to comply with county laws requiring them to "examine" places for which licenses are to be used to investigate the possible effect of such gambling licenses on surrounding neighborhoods.

Gov. Reasserts Stand On Judges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trial magistrates who are going to run for public office should resign, Gov. McKeldin reasserted yesterday.

Three years ago the governor first issued the ultimatum, but it was defied by several magistrates who refused to resign while campaigning.

"There has been no change in my policy," the governor said yesterday. "The public would undoubtedly feel . . . inconsistency . . . between the duties of a trial magistrate and the activities of a campaigning candidate."

Executive Unit Named By Demos

The Young Democrat Club of Allegany County Tuesday elected an executive committee for the coming year.

William Walsh, newly elected president, said the committee includes Robert Adams, Ralph Chambers, Mrs. Anne Everline, Joseph Montana, William Russell, Homer Schade and Mrs. Leslie Clark.

Walsh, who attended the Young Democrats state convention recently at Ocean City, reported on activities there and said the convention next year will be held at Hagerstown.
